Federal probe 'scored' the sheriff, he told IRS

Madison County Sheriff John Maeras told federal authorities four years ago, "You guys got me scared to death." The comment was voiced in response to a question on whether he would seek reelection in 1974.

The sheriff declined to testify at the June 26-July 5, 1978, trial of three former Madison policemen, saying he would invoke the Fifth Amendment against possible self-incrimination.

But he participated in an April 15, 1974, interview with the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and it was submitted as an exhibit at the recent trial.

During his testimony, Sheriff Maeras was asked about his contacts with Ronald Grzywacz, now a Madison alderman:

Q: "Have you known him over 10 years?"

A: "Oh yeah."

Q: "How well do you know him?"

A: "Well, I would say I know him fairly well. I worked with him on the police department."

Q: "Is it City of Madison police?"

A: "For Madison, right."

Q: "You associate with him socially or not?"

A: "No, not really."

Q: "You stated you worked with him on the Madison police force, approximately how long?"

A: "Well, I think I left there in '64 and I guess I was on there about six or seven years, as best as I can recall."

Q: "Since you left there — you say you left there in '64?"

A: "Uh huh."

Q: "Since you left the police department in Madison, have you had occasion to work with Ronald Grzywacz or have him do any work for you?"

A: "Well, when I took over the sheriff's office, we well, it took a little while to get my feet on the ground."

Q: "And I kind of felt that after I got the job the office was running, that I would kind of like to know what was going on in the county."

A: "And I didn't have a chief deputy. I had a — I asked this fellow to help me, Demas Nicholas, so he was my acting chief deputy."

Q: "So I don't know whether he suggested it or I suggested it, Ronald Grzywacz."

A: "Nevertheless, we agree that to find out just what was going on in the county."

Q: "So, I agreed that Ron would be a good man; he can handle himself, he wasn't known, he wasn't connected with the (sheriff) department and he would be a good backup man for Cooper. To find out just what was going on in the county, and who was doing what."

Q: "This is Lieutenant John Cooper?"

A: "Yes."

Q: "You recall when this was approximately; you took office in December 1970, about how long after that?"

A: "I would say it was in the summer some time or . . ."

Q: "71?"

A: "71. He only lasted couple — 2, 3 months as best as I can recall."

Q: "Just exactly, you say to find out what's going on in the county, in what respect?"

A: "Well, kind of aware what was going on in the road and the rest of the county. I just wanted to kind of find out what was going on and who was doing what."

Q: "You mean as far as illegal activities?"

A: "Illegal activities, correct."

Q: "What kind of illegal activities per se?"

A: "Well, who was doing the, suppose to prostitution, the gambling, the what not that I am sure everybody was well aware of what was transpiring on Collinsville Road, and throughout the county in the unincorporated areas."

Q: "Was — you say you asked him or did you hire him or how?"

Madison schools OK pacts

By MICK STRANGE

New contract agreements between the Madison School District and union and non-union personnel have been approved for the 1978-79 school year, it was announced Tuesday by John Palchey, superintendent of schools.

Agreements between the district and the American Federation of Teachers Local 763 and the Service Employees International Union Local 98 have been approved by the Board of Education and ratified by the unions, Palchey said.

In the new contract with the American Federation of Teachers Local 763, of which Sharon Bartels is president, certified teachers with bachelors' degrees received a six to nine percent increase, depending on the teacher's status on a 12-step schedule.

Beginning teachers now will start at $10,500 per year, which is $400 above the 1977-78 scale of $10,100. The top step on the bachelors' degree schedule has been increased from $14,650 to $15,050.

The new contract increases the number of steps on the master's degree scale from 13 to 14, with the beginning salary increased from $10,800 to $11,200. The top step has been increased from $15,900 to $16,300.

Services to honor pope

Memorial masses will be read in Quad-City Catholic churches on various dates for the late Pope Paul VI who died Sunday afternoon of a heart attack at his summer home, Castel Gandolfo, south of Rome, Italy.

The first service is set Friday, Aug. 11, at 7 p.m. at St. Joseph Church, 2101 State St., to be followed by services arranged for Sunday, Aug. 13, at 10 a.m. at Sacred Heart Church, 2600 Washington, Tuesday, Aug. 15, at 6 p.m. at St. Mary's Church, 10th and Alton streets, Madison; Tuesday, Aug. 15, at 6:30 p.m. at the outdoor shrine at St. Mark's Church in Venice.

Also on Sunday, Aug. 20, at 9 a.m. at St. Elizabeth Church, Johnson and Pontoon Roads, St. Margaret Mary Church, 1900 St. Clair Ave., has tentative plans with the final date to be announced later.

Payless paydays

Distribution of salary checks for Granite City Township employees in the offices of the assessor and the township supervisor has been delayed during the past week because of what some officials described as a fund shortage pending receipt of tax funds from the county treasurer's office, it was learned by the Press-Record today.

In the absence of Township Supervisor Nelson Hagnauer who is out of the city on vacation, employees at the township office here declined to discuss the matter and referred all inquiries to Hagnauer when he returns next week.

But Robert Stevens, who as city clerk also is ex-officio clerk of the township, told the Press-Record that it was his understanding that the salary checks had been held up "until there is enough cash funds available to cover them."

Stevens said that while City Treasurer Nick Petrillo has distributed some locally collected tax funds to the township since the tax collection period began on July 15, the township is required to use its first tax revenue to retire all outstanding tax anticipation warrants on or before Aug. 15.

Petrillo told the Press-Record that he has received distribution of only $50,000 from the county treasurer's office, but that he has collected approximately $4.5 million locally. That amount, he said, he has distributed $142,000 to Granite City township.

The salary checks involved were approved by the City Council convened as the Township Board in a regular session on Aug. 1. Stevens said the checks were prepared and signed by him and released to the township office last week.

The council members sitting as the Township Board approved Aug. 1 payment of $12,652 in claims against Granite City Township accounts, including $6,911 in (Continued on Page 16)

Tour shows port's vigor

A bustling port and river area was in evidence here Monday evening as nearly 100 persons took a waterway tour following christening of a new towboat that will be used for harbor floating operations here. Named "Senator Sam," the 1,750-horsepower towboat acquired by Art's Floating Service honors State Senator Sam Vadala.

A longtime local district legislator, Vadala is credited with aiding the Tri-City Regional Port District in becoming a self-sufficient, fast-growing Mississippi River terminal.

The senator was present to speak and then to break a decorated bottle over the capstan of the towboat. It was not until a curtain was removed that he became aware of the name of the vessel.

Port Board Chairman John Belloff spoke and Port Attorney Randall Robertson served as toastmaster. (Continued on Page 16)

New community center is planned

Construction of a new community center building that will be open to use for community as well as church activities is expected to get under way before the end of this month.

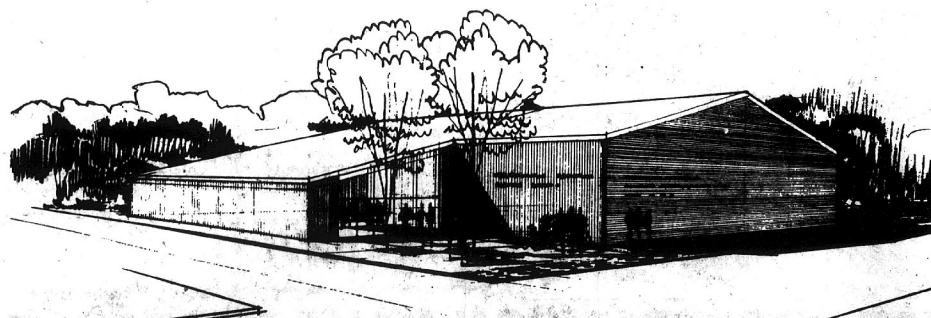

Plans to build the center were announced Tuesday by the Rev. Jeffrey R. Smith, pastor of the Community Heights Assembly of God Church.

The building will cost an estimated $115,000 that is being raised in a fund drive conducted by the church. Rev. Smith said the fund campaign will continue for the next several weeks and that contributions are being welcomed from throughout the Quad-City area.

Rev. Smith said the building, which will provide a meeting and community area, kitchen, facilities, game room, recreational facilities and additional classrooms for Sunday School activities will be owned by the Assembly of God Church, but will be offered for use by community groups and organizations for all kinds of activities.

The main section of the building will be 50 by 75 feet. An adjoining annex which will include the kitchen, a vending machine room, a pantry and a boys' workshop area will be 24 by 50 feet.

A full basement will be built under the main section for rest rooms, a large game room and 12 separate rooms, nine of which will be used as Sunday School classrooms. (Continued on Page 3)

New books by faculty members

If research and publication are an indication of professional achievement among scholars, the Department of Historical Studies at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is in high standing intellectually. Five faculty members have had books published this year or had them accepted for publication, according to Herbert Rosenthal, department chairman. Fourteen articles have been published in scholarly journals by faculty members and 14 papers have been delivered at regional, national and international conferences.

Prof. James T. Weingartner has written a book which has been published by the University of California Press on the Malmédy massacre and trial. The book, "Crossroads of Death: The Story of the Malmédy Massacre and Trial," tells the story of the incident that occurred in Belgium during World War II.

Prof. Patrick Riddellberger is writing a book that deals with a conflict between an American president and Congress. The book, "1966: The Critical Year Revisited," has been accepted for publication by the Southern Illinois University Press.

Prof. Norman Nordhauser has written a book accepted by a New York publisher which will be included in a series edited by Frank Friedel of Harvard University. Title of the book is "The Quest for Stability: Domestic Oil Regulation 1919-1935."

Prof. Richard Millett is the co-editor of a book which is a collection of essays by scholars and statesmen titled "The Restless Caribbean: Changing Patterns of International Relations." It deals with international politics in the Caribbean and will be published by Praeger Publishing Company.

Prof. Stanley Kimball has compiled a book of maps called "Mormon Trails." It will soon be published by Desert Press. The Mormon trail extends from Nauvoo, Ill., to Salt Lake City, Utah. Several years ago, Kimball followed the trail, taking photographs along the route. He also had two studies accepted for publication by Brigham University Studies.

Rascals football registration

With 50 boys already registered, the Granite City Rascals Boys' Football Club on Saturday will conduct additional registration, hoping to get the fall 1978 season under way during the first week of September.

Registration is set for 2 p.m. Saturday at the Nameoki Recreation Center, Pontoon Road and Franklin Avenue. A complex age-weight formula (age as of Sept. 1) is intended to assure maximum safety for the young tackle football players. It divides the prospective gridgers into five categories:

Ages 6-9, weight up to 67 pounds.

Age 10, up to 87 pounds.
Age 11, up to 77 pounds.
Age 12, up to 117 pounds.
Age 13, up to 102 pounds.
Why the bigger weight limits for younger boys, in two of the instances? League officials say it has been found to be the most effective method of keeping competition on even terms.

Those who exceed the weight limit for their particular age can move up to an older age bracket.

But 13-year-olds weighing over 102 pounds cannot play in the Rascals program here and instead may wish to compete at their junior high school.

Man faces 3 charges in neighborhood incident

Sidney L. Williams, 45, of 2832 Northridge, was arrested at 1:20 p.m. Tuesday, outside his home, following an incident in which it is alleged he threatened children with a sledge hammer, swung the hammer at a 15-year-old girl and threw a bicycle of another child into the street.

Initially arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct, Williams later was charged with two counts of assault.

He was released on a $1000 bond to Madison County sheriff's deputies at 2:15 a.m. Wednesday and transported to the Madison County Jail.

Police reported the arrest resulted from a call from residents in the vicinity of the 2500 block of Northridge, who said a man was chasing and threatening kids with a sledge hammer.

The youngsters apparently were riding bicycles on the sidewalk in front of Williams' house and he said they were "messing up the rock" in his driveway, between the street and sidewalk, authorities said.

Williams allegedly was sitting in his driveway with a sledge hammer on the sidewalk near his foot when police arrived.

Witnesses said he used the hammer to throw beneath the wheels of bicycles to keep the children off the driveway.

They also alleged the man was using profane language, making threats and swung the hammer, almost striking one girl on a bicycle.

Police explained the area in question was city property, but Williams allegedly became abusive with officers.

He said the people were "trying to run me out of the neighborhood." At this point he was arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct.

A 12-year-old girl told police Williams ran from his garage swinging the sledge hammer at her when someone yelled for her to watch out.

A 13-year-old boy, who said he saw the man swing the hammer at the girl, said he used both hands as if swinging a baseball bat.

Another boy told police Williams started to chase him and he jumped off his bicycle and ran. The man then threw the machine into the street, bending the front wheel spokes, he said.

Seven witnesses gave police information at the scene.

At police headquarters, Williams refused to give his name and was booked as "John Doe."

Police said his name was revealed when his wife called the station and he was charged under the name of Williams with two counts of assault, added to the initial disorderly conduct charge.

Community center

The other three rooms will be used for a girls' workshop and other recreational activities.

The building will be constructed on two lots at Faith Drive and Marshall Avenue near the Community Heights Assembly of God Church at Faith and Buxton Avenue. Design plans have been completed and the award of contracts for construction work is expected to be completed within the next week, Rev. Smith said.

In announcing plans for the new building, Rev. Smith said:

"The center will serve multiple purposes, not only for our church but also for the community. There will be scheduled activities that will involve every age bracket, especially for the youth."

"The possibilities are unlimited for its use."

He said the church is considering a missionette program to teach girls 5 to 17 about wholesome living, a Royal Ranger program for boys 5 to 17 "to teach them they can be men without drugs, alcohol and stealing." Regular film showings also are being planned.

Regularly scheduled recreational activities for boys and girls, a day care center, wedding receptions, banquets and community meetings are other uses to which the center will be put, Rev. Smith said, noting:

"Many churches take a conservative financial approach and feel that tithes and offerings received from their congregations serve God the best by being put into a bank and drawing 5% percent interest. I feel that anything a church receives is to be used in an outreach for people to influence their lives for good."

Rev. Smith said, "We need the help and support of the community to finalize this program and begin construction." He said the fund drive for the church building will continue for the next several weeks.

Coal truck overturns

David C. Newcom, 28, Columbia, Ill., has been released from St. Elizabeth Hospital after treatment for head bruises.

Newcom was north bound, driving a semi-truck loaded with fine coal, and attempted to make a left turn from Highway 151 onto W. 20th Street during the weekend when the left rear tire hit the median. This caused coal in the trailer to shift, and turned the truck over onto its right side.

Firemen were called to the scene to wash down gasoline. Traffic on the highway's south-bound lanes was disrupted for about 30 minutes.

The truck belongs to the D & D Trucking Company of Millstadt. Another truck was dispatched to pick up the spilled coal.

2 hurt in crash

An accident at 1:50 p.m. Wednesday in the 2800 block of Terminal Avenue involved vehicles operated by Victoria S. Townsend, 2827 Pershing Ave., and Mrs. Carlos S. Robertson, Fort Worth, Tex.

Mrs. Robertson, 50, was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 6 p.m. Wednesday, for pain in the neck area. She had X-rays taken and was released.

Mrs. Townsend also reportedly sustained a minor injury in the mishap.

Laborers contract talks continuing

Contractors and representatives of the International Laborers Union continued discussion of new contract terms in a meeting at Belleville today, after failing to settle disputed issues in a meeting Wednesday.

A second negotiation session also was scheduled later today, also in Belleville, between the contractors and representatives of the Tri-County Carpenters Council based in East St. Louis.

Mediators of the U.S. Conciliation and Mediation Service at St. Louis are assisting in the contract talks in an effort to reach settlements with both the laborers and Tri-County carpenters, the only two major crafts unions that have not agreed on new contract settlements.

The contractors are being represented in the negotiations by the Southern Illinois Builders Association. Wayne Barber, executive manager of the SIBA, has announced new working pacts with the Ironworkers, the Madison County Carpenters Council, cement finishers and operating engineers. Those unions have ratified the new agreements.

Secretaries review events

The Tri-Cities Chapter of the National Secretaries' Association (International) held their monthly meeting with a potluck dinner at Joyce Savich's house. She is the newly installed president of the chapter for 1978-79. Eighteen members and three guests were present.

Kathy Jones was initiated into regular membership. Two years of secretarial experience is required to be a regular member. New committee assignments were distributed. Granite City High Schools North and South have decided to divide their Future Secretaries' Association into two separate chapters. Details will be released at a later date, the president said.

The chapter held a fund raising project June 17 in Bunker Hill, and the festivities at Bunker Hill's Frontier Days-American Legion Homecoming included rides and various booths, one of which the secretaries held their "white elephant" items. It was reported.

On July 12, 28 members and friends attended the Munny Opera where Ed Ames starred in "Man of La Mancha." The group enjoyed a brief tour of backstage, wardrobe area and the set itself, followed by a delicious buffet dinner.

The 1978 Illinois Division Leadership Clinic will be held Saturday, Aug. 12, at the Sheraton Motor Inn in Rock Island. At least three members are planning to attend. This clinic is designed to further develop leadership abilities, the president announced.

Past presidents Helen Gieszelmann, 1965 and Charlene Vunovic, CPS, 1967, were presented with their past president's pin at the June meeting when the new officers were installed.

As a civic project, many of the NSA members will be devoting four hours on Aug. 27 at Channel 9 television studios to answer phones and perform other various tasks. Next month's meeting will be held Sept. 7, at 6:30.

GC man struck; suspect held

A 21-year-old Fyallup, Wash., man is being held today, pending further investigation into an incident occurring at 5:55 p.m. Wednesday in the 3900 block of Village Lane.

John Allen, 46, of 3905 Village Lane, who manages the apartment complex, told police he apparently was struck on the head by a man carrying a walking stick with a silver handle.

Allen was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital, suffering lacerations above the left eyebrow. He was admitted for observation.

Allen told police he was on a riding lawn mower when a red and white van passed him on Village Lane, traveling fast. He said the van almost struck the mower and he yelled at the driver for driving too fast, saying he was the manager.

A black man alighted from the van, occupied by several people, Allen said, and the last thing he remembered was someone swinging at him, striking him across the head. Shortly after the report was made, a woman called headquarters saying she was one of those in the van and would come into the station.

Officers heard sounds of bowling balls in the background and police went to both local bowling lanes. They found the van at Bowland.

A man and woman were near the phone and another man walked up carrying a silver-handled cane. He was taken into custody.

The man disagreed with Allen's version of the incident, saying he was forced to swerve to avoid the lawn mower which was coming toward him. He said the van door was slammed on his foot, but admitted punching Allen in the mouth.

Those in the van were between the ages of 22 and 38. All of them were from out of town. They had received permits to solicit sales in Granite City on Wednesday, police learned.

News notes

Richard Troy said Tuesday his Nov. 7 ballot rival, Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott, is improperly using campaign money to pay lawyer and accountant fees connected with a federal investigation to Scott's finances.

Attorneys say Illinois taxpayers may have to pay up to $700,000 in back salaries and legal fees to 25 state workers involved in a patronage dismissal case during the Walker administration.

The state fair is opening today at Springfield with tractor competition and quarter-horse races. It will be "country fair day" tomorrow and mayors and local officials will be honored Saturday, when Charley Pride will be the entertainer. Veterans will be saluted Sunday, and Monday will bring youth day and the Beach Boys.

The U.S. Postal Service said Wednesday it won't renegotiate the tentative contract that is being voted on by postal workers this month. Many employees have criticized the plan, which calls for a 9.5 percent raise over three years. If workers reject the proposal, there is expected to be fact-finding and arbitration by mediators.

A second free immunization clinic will be conducted for Wood River area children between the ages of two months and 18 years on Tuesday, Aug. 22, from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. and Wednesday, Aug. 23, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Wood River Township Hall, Ninth and Airline Drive.

Former Madison County sheriff public information officer Conrad "Pete" Baetz is being assailed for methods used as an investigator for the U.S. House Select Committee on Assassinations. Another House committee responded by shoving the group's request for an extra $790,000 to continue its probe.

The governor's re-election campaign staff is paying some citizens $100 for each 750 signatures they collect for the Thompson tax-spending limit proposal. If enough petitions are filled out in time, the proposition will appear on the Nov. 7 ballot.

Until the world's largest electronic chain designed and built the TRS-80 microcomputer there were only two ways to go. Build a computer from parts and pieces as a hobbyist. Or buy or rent a computer for your business or activity. The cost was often in the tens of thousands of dollars. And what you got was probably more than you required. Radio Shack had a different idea: to take the mystery out of computers AND dramatically reduce their cost, without sacrificing the essentials. The result is TRS-80. More TRS-80 computers have been delivered to satisfied users than (as a safe guess) ANY other equipment of its kind. Unlike many others, TRS-80 is not just for fun and games, it's professional. It has its own 12" screen—it's not just another add-on to a TV set. And it's available from stock, not just another unbelievable advertising claim. Best of all, you can take it to any AC outlet, plug it in... and put it to work. Our people can show you its benefits and unprecedented affordability. Please come in to your nearest Radio Shack store. And prepare to be very, very pleasantly surprised!

Herzing, chairman of the grievance committee of Granite City Local 1063; John Mikrut, an instructor in labor law at the institute; and Willard Glenn Herzing, president of Local 1063. There were 200 steelworkers from District 34 attending the educational institute.

Third-party filings create opposition in area board races

Opposition for County Board seats in four of the seven board districts in the Quad-City area were assured this week following third-party filings by Democratic candidates in Board Districts 16 and 26, and the appointment of a Republican candidate in the District 26 election.

In Districts 21 and 19 in Granite City, Democratic candidates will be opposed by Republican candidates nominated during primary election balloting last March. There will be no opposition to Democratic candidates on the ballot in Districts 20 and 23, also in Granite City.

Walter "Dick" Sparks, incumbent County Board member of District 16 (Chouteau Township) filed petitions at the county clerk's office Monday as a candidate for re-election in the Nov. 7 election balloting. He will oppose Morris W. Miles who defeated Sparks for the nomination in that district in the March primary election.

Sparks filed as the "Peoples Party" ticket under a state law that permits new party filings after a primary election upon presentation of petitions bearing signatures totaling at least five percent of the total vote cast in the district in the November 1976 election.

As a County Board member, Sparks now heads the County Board's Sewer Committee which has handled the program to install sanitary sewers in the unincorporated areas of Nameoki, Venice and Chouteau Township.

Last week, third-party petitions also were filed by Mrs. Helen Hawkins in Board District 23 (Nameoki Township) where incumbent Board Member Louis Whitsell defeated Mrs. Hawkins and another candidate in the March primary. She filed as the "People for Helen Hawkins Party" ticket and as a result will oppose Whitsell on the Democratic side of the ballot in the Nov. 7 election.

Meanwhile, County Clerk Evelyn Bowles announced that the Republican District Committee of District 26, made up of precinct committeemen within the district, has appointed Bob Barton, a real estate dealer, as a Republican candidate in that district. No Republican candidate was nominated last March.

As a result, a three-way race for the board seat in the Nameoki Township district, including Nameoki Precincts 5, 6, 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12, expected to highlight local area balloting in the November election of County Board members.

Opposition in Granite City District 21 will be between Daniel Partney, incumbent, on the Democratic ballot, and Richard A. Mathenia, the Republican candidate. Both were nominated in the primary election.

William E. Webb, incumbent Democratic board member of Granite City Board District 19, will be opposed by George Slattery on the Republican ballot. They also were nominated in the March primary.

Democratic candidates in District 23 and District 20, both in Granite City, have no opposition on the Republican side of the ballot. They are Roderick L. Baader who was nominated in District 23, in March, and Incumbent Board Member Nelson Hagnauer who was nominated without opposition in District 20. Hagnauer also is chairman of the County Board.

Kiwanis plans 'Peanut' days

The Granite City and Breakfast Kiwanis clubs again will join forces for the annual Kiwanis "Peanut days."

On Friday and Saturday, Sept. 15 and 16, members of the two local service clubs will hand out peanuts for a donation to help needy children in the area.

Chairmen for the Evening GC Kiwanis Club are Frank Maytas and Ray Hall, and chairmen for the Breakfast Kiwanis Club are Mark Heironimus and Col. George Teller.

Wolf cites tax savings

Next year's Madison County tax bills will reflect savings brought about by the property tax relief program of the Democratic leadership in the General Assembly, former representative Sam Wolf, Democrat, of Granite City, said today.

The program sponsored by Senate President Thomas C. Hynes, (D-Chicago) and supported by the rest of the Democratic leadership in the legislature will be in effect before next year's tax bills are in the mail," Wolf said.

"The average saving for many homeowners, depending on local tax rates, will be from $100 to $150 a year."

"Amendments to this program by the governor would seem to have the sole effect of increasing the taxpayers' difficulty in understanding the bill as presented. As everyone knows, most bills are hard enough to understand as it is."

The principal bill in the package of four provides a $1,500 exemption from future increases in assessed valuation.

"A committee is to be appointed by Sen. Hynes to study implementation of the exemption, with recommendation by its members as to any necessary changes in the legislation," Wolf said.

"Leaders in the legislature will see to it that those changes are made before the next year's tax bills go out."

"All four of the bills in the package were backed by Michael J. Bakalis, House Speaker William A. Redmond (D-Bensenville) and House Majority Leader Michael J. Madigan (D-Chicago)."

"In addition to the $1,500 exemption from future assessment increases, the program includes an increase in the assessment exemption for home improvements from the present $15,000 to $25,000."

"Property owners will be allowed to do necessary repair and maintenance work without facing the possibility of assessment increases, senior citizens can obtain help in paying their real estate taxes. Every effort is being made to provide property tax relief and to cut government spending wherever possible without jeopardizing necessary services."

Environmentalism says Clean Air law will cause economic calamity

By JOHN R. GUARLES JR.
Former Deputy Administrator,
U.S. Environmental Protection Agency

Since the early days of environmental protest, dispute has ranged over whether our national goals of environmental protection and economic progress are incompatible. In actual practice, many potential conflicts have been reconciled, and great progress has been made in controlling pollution without incurring the disruptive economic effects that were once so widely feared. Yet a new danger now looms. Recent amendments to the Clean Air Act provide that in any area where the air quality standards have not been fully attained no new industrial plant can be built after July 1, 1979, unless the state has adopted and the Environmental Protection Agency has approved an air pollution control plan that will assure full compliance by the end of 1982 (or 1987 in the case of photochemical oxidants). This provision, like a loose cannon on a pitching deck, threatens a path of destruction. The new law is likely to stop construction of new plants or plant expansions in heavy industries such as steel, rubber, cement, minerals processing or chemicals in many of the largest cities and most industrialized areas throughout the Great Lakes and Northeastern regions of the country. It probably will prevent any expansion after 1979 of the petroleum and petrochemical industries in Southern California. And it may have similar effects along the Gulf Coast in Texas and the East Coast from Virginia to Maine. The fundamental problem which the amendments sought to address is inherently difficult. The 1970 Clean Air Act required that all air quality standards to protect public health must be fully achieved no later than July 1977. Air quality data in recent years made it clear that many areas would fail to achieve that goal. This presented the dilemma whether to allow new industrial plants to emit additional pollution although the health standards were already violated, or whether to make the economic sacrifice of prohibiting new plants from locating in such areas. During 1976 the EPA developed a compromise policy which permitted new plants to be built but under tightly restrictive conditions. The EPA required not only that each new plant install best available control technology but also that it produce suitable "offset": reductions in pollution from other existing sources, above and beyond the "offset" improvements already required by air pollution laws, more than sufficient to offset the residue of pollution anticipated from the new plant.

Because this approach pleased no one, the entire scheme became a focus of controversy when amendments to the Clean Air Act were drafted. Congress adopted an approach which followed closely the pattern set by the EPA. It continued the same basic offset policy, with a few minor modifications, for the first two years.

Then, effective July 1, 1979, it threw in the additional monkey wrench of making the approval of individual new plants dependent on whether the state has adopted and is enforcing a total program of pollution control sufficient to eliminate any violation.

The only rationale for this scheme is that rigid federal pressure must be applied to force the adoption of effective programs to control air pollution.

The fallacy is that those who will pay the heaviest price for noncompliance do not have it within their power to assure compliance.

A company planning to build a new plant and the workers involved are not in a position of no ability at all to prod government officials to complete action on a comprehensive pollution control program.

Success of the statutory scheme thus rests on a bog in the dynamics of local political action.

Another serious objection is that the new law allows no leeway.

If the plan is not finished and approved — no matter why — the sanctions apply automatically.

If a state agency lacks adequate manpower, if a governor opposes one part of the program, if EPA rejects a plan for technical or procedural defects; if anyone ties up the new plan in litigation, or if for any other reason the deadline is missed, then federal law will prohibit construction of new plants with unforgiving finality. There is no discretion nor enforce the law.

The use of this radical sanction affects a desperate game by Congress, hoping that the threat of economic calamity will bludgeon states and localities into adopting whatever measures are needed to achieve the air quality standards, even though the time to develop plans is inadequate and in a few instances such measures might be beyond all bounds of reason.

Moreover, the uncertainties of this situation will produce negative effects even if all plan revisions beat the deadline.

Since the approval of new plants has been subjected to conditions which are not controllable, or even predictable, by corporate officials, the survival process of investment planning is derailed.

No company today can safely schedule construction of a new plant to start in the fall of 1979 in any nonattainment area.

The potential for harm from this ill-conceived and rigid new law confronts the EPA, state air pollution control agencies and American industry with an awesome challenge.

Immediate action is demanded to understand and respond to the new statutory dictates.

If the development of plans goes down so that the 1979 deadline is missed throughout wide areas of the country, disaster lies waiting for both the environmental agencies and the national economy.

Even if best efforts are made, this law is likely to produce unacceptable impacts in some areas.

The sooner these effects are clearly identified, the better the chances may be that Congress can further modify the statute to produce needed flexibility before it is too late.

MISS LESLYE WHALING NOW 2ND LIEUTENANT

San Antonio — Leslye J. Whaling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Whaling, 2803 Edwardsville Road, Granite City, has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force upon graduation from Officer Training School at Lackland AFB, Tex. Lieut. Whaling, selected through competitive examination for attendance at the school, now goes to Lowry AFB, Colo., for training and duty as an administrative officer. A 1971 graduate of Granite City High School, she received her master of science degree in 1977 from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

GOP chairman says Lucco bid costly, selfish

Madison County Republican Dr. Edward Ragsdale yesterday lashed out at Democratic State Representative Joe E. Lucco of Edwardsville, referring to Lucco as "willing to go to desperate lengths in order to serve his own selfish interests." Lucco is seeking to retain his Illinois House seat as an independent.

Dr. Ragsdale noted that earlier in the year, Lucco was defeated in the Democratic primary when he sought to be renominated as a state representative candidate in the 5th Legislative District.

"I think that his current action should be taken as a slap in the face of voters, be they Republicans, independents or Democrats," Dr. Ragsdale said.

"Lucco realized he couldn't be elected as a Democrat, so now he's trying to palm himself off as some kind of an independent. I think it's a travesty of our election process, pure and simple."

"When a candidate loses a race, he should accept the decision of the voters, not try to subvert the process."

Dr. Ragsdale predicted that the independent candidacy "stands to hurt the old-line organization Democrats a great deal, by dividing up their vote totals even more. 'But I caution against a strong Republican optimism, because the independent candidacy idea may need more time to be politically analyzed."

"It also disturbs me that Joe Lucco doesn't seem to care about the fact that his personal vendetta will cost Madison County taxpayers potentially many thousands of dollars."

When the county clerk has to include a third party candidate, the expense is a major consideration affecting everybody, regardless of their politics.

"If what he has done goes unchecked by his own Democratic party, then this could spell the end of the primary process for choosing candidates, and it could spell the end of two-party government, as splinter factions pop up at the drop of a hat."

Woman charged in theft of flowers

A patrolling officer saw a woman drop something behind a bush in the front yard of a home in the 2200 block of Monroe Street at 2:45 a.m. Thursday, and found flowers allegedly taken from the rear yard of the home.

A 10-year-old boy was seen carrying a terrarium at the rear of the 1600 block of East 3rd Street, about the same time, and told police it came from a house down the alley.

Arrested and charged with theft was Linda McMaster, 26, of 1632 E. 23rd St. She was released on $35 cash bond at 3:30 a.m. Thursday.

LOOT PARKED AUTO

Ellen Pitchford, 2808 National Ave., reported at 12:50 a.m. Wednesday, the theft of an eight-track tape player, valued at $120, from her auto, parked at Leonard and Fortune Drive.

Fire guts tractor cab; $5,000 loss

The tractor of a large truck, parked 500 feet north of 22nd Street near the railroad tracks, may have been set on fire about 8:15 p.m. Wednesday.

A. "There was no pay involved, he done this on his own time."

Q. "And this exactly — now you mention Cooper, as the backup man for John Cooper?"

A. "John knew the area."

Q. "And what were they to do? Did you give them?"

A. "To find out who was doing, if anybody was doing anything. And, in regards of any illegal activities."

Q. "Did you have information that there were illegal activities? Or is this..."

A. "None that would be no more than has been going on for years that you hear of, hearsay."

Q. "And for a period of — you say about 3 months or 2..."

A. "Two or 3 months at the most. I can't recall."

Q. "Now, was this a full-time thing for him?"

A. "No, no."

Q. "And he got no compensation for this?"

A. "No, none whatsoever."

Q. "Why would he — I mean, he was still working as a Madison police officer?"

A. "That's correct."

Q. "And he agreed to this in addition to that?"

A. "On his own time to help me out."

Q. "And did you direct the course of this here particular, I guess you call it..."

A. "No, anything that — they came up with was turned over to my acting chief. He was the — he was in charge of it, he handled it."

Q. "This was Demos Nicholas?"

A. "Demos Nicholas, right."

Q. "He is deceased?"

A. "Right."

Q. "When did he die?"

A. "72, I guess."

Q. "I'm not sure, I think it was around December of '72. Is that correct, or not?"

A. "Well, I'm not really sure myself. I think it was in the warm weather, July, August, September, somewhere around then. I may be wrong, I couldn't really tell you."

Q. "But he is deceased?"

A. "He is deceased, right."

Q. "And he was to direct the course of this investigation or what?"

A. "Everything was turned over to him."

Q. "And both John Cooper and Grzywacz would report to Demos Nicholas then, is that correct?"

A. "We... Ron, he would come up to the office several times, and I would see him down at the organization meeting in Madison."

Q. "What organization would that be?"

A. "City organization. We had a city organization meeting once a month."

Q. "What city organization is that?"

A. "Social, social."

Q. "I mean is this what it's called? City organization?"

A. "Yeah."

Q. "And this investigation, were you aware of what results there were of this?"

A. "Whatever they compiled I think they eventually, they did what they had to do, and I would say they done a real good job."

Q. "What were the results? Are you familiar with them?"

A. "Well, closed the Okay Cafe, the Steak House, Well, I think they got the Fairmont Motel one time, they got Myrene's a couple times. I..."

Mr. WEHRHEIM: "This was — go on."

Q. "That's about the extent, I mean as far as — that the investigation brought up the results that he did hit these places."

Q. "The Okay Cafe, I take it, that was out near Route 40, State Park Place?"

A. "Right."

Q. "The Fairmont Motel, was that in the same general vicinity?"

A. "Same area."

Q. "And the Steak House also was there?"

A. "The Steak House also."

Q. "And Myrene's, as I understand it, is Myrene Stewart's place up in Godfrey?"

A. "Yeah, right."

Q. "And these were all places — what was going on there?"

A. "This is where the supposedly prostitution was going on."

Q. "Was there anything else that initiated this investigation other than the fact that there were various illegal activities going on? How were these able to operate in the past? Did anybody check into that?"

A. "Well, let me say this, this has gone on over there for years as far as I know."

Q. "Do you have any indication that any people in your department might be involved in anything?"

A. "I've heard some rumors, something that we couldn't substantiate. No way we could substantiate it."

Q. "This is, what, with respect to somebody else getting some money?"

A. "Somebody else getting some money, right."

Q. "Demos Nicholas was the person then that all these people were reporting to?"

A. "This is correct. He was — here, I was not a field man, I had enough problems to try and run that office, phone calls and little public relations."

Q. "I relied a whole lot on my staff as far as the operation of the department."

Q. "Are you aware of the names of the operators of these particular establishments?"

A. "The only one that I know of that I heard the name is Walter Young."

Q. "And what does he operate?"

A. "He runs the Club J."

Q. "And was that also a place that was closed or they raided?"

A. "Yes, it's closed, it's been closed I guess a year — year and a half now."

Q. "Was that closed as a result of this investigation by Lt. Cooper and Ronald Grzywacz?"

A. "I would say that — that probably wasn't the big deal because we knew it was there; it was just a matter of time as far as getting in."

Q. "This investigation that you authorized or requested, is there any other people in your department involved in that?"

A. "No sir."

Q. "Strictly the two individuals then?"

A. "That's correct."

Q. "Where there any written reports made that you saw?"

A. "Well, I used to get on — well, on Cooper to the exact, because he was a heck of a man on not writing reports. So, whatever reports were made was turned over to Demos."

Q. "Did Ronald Grzywacz make written reports?"

A. "No, not that I know of. I mean he would come in and he would talk to me or I would see him down at the organization meeting."

Q. "Just a matter of conversation of you, you know, what may have been going on or just how things were going."

Q. "And any written reports that he would have made would have been turned over to Demos Nicholas then?"

A. "I would have to say yes. This is the guy that I have to rely on just like I rely on the one I got right now."

Q. "My chief deputy now is Bob Rizzi."

Q. "Any reports then would have been given to Demos Nicholas. Would they have been maintained in a file in your office up there?"

A. "I would assume."

Q. "Would they still be there?"

A. "This is something I couldn't answer right. I couldn't answer that. I know they went through his desk, they didn't come up with anything of any consequences about anything."

Q. "Are you aware of an operation called the Marco Polo?"

A. "Yeah."

Q. "Was that also one of the places that was contacted by..."

A. "Yes sir."

Q. "Do you know how they went about this investigation?"

A. "Well, everybody conducts their own investigation, and I am assuming that whatever he done was right because they got the results."

Q. "So, actually, except for informal conversation with Ronald Grzywacz in this city organization that you have in the City of Madison and whatever reports were made to Demos Nicholas, you didn't involve yourself?"

A. "No, I was not a field man."

Q. "You were concerned with the administrative functions of the sheriff's office at that point?"

A. "Correct."

Q. "Were there any indications that any deputies of the Madison County sheriff's office were receiving payoffs?"

A. "One's working — he is working at County Station, Harold Bradshaw, the other one is..."

Q. "Harold Bradshaw?"

A. "Yeah, and Dilly Connors. Dilly is dead."

Mr. WEHRHEIM: "I see."

Q. "When did Dilly die? Did he die of natural causes or..."

A. "No, I think Dilly died in a car wreck."

toward a doctorate has been raised from $11,500 to $11,800 for the first year. The total salary in this category has been increased from $16,950 to $17,300.

Since the master's degree level was increased by one step, the bachelor's degree schedule was increased by one step with an additional step increment at the top of the bachelor's degree scale to allow teachers to get into the master's degree column.

In addition to the salary increases, the board agreed to pay up to $8 more per month in hospitalization. Personal business days remained at two and sick days remained the same.

An additional $384 may be earned by teachers who do not use any sick days or personal business days.

The substitute teachers pay was increased from $30 to $32 a day.

Out of the salary increase the board agreed to pay $400 toward teachers' retirement upon the option of the teachers.

Custodians, who are members of Service Employees International Union Local 88, received a salary increase from $5.10 to $5.40 per hour. Substitute custodians' hourly rate was increased from $3.75 to $4 per hour.

It also was agreed to increase hospitalization payments up to $8 per month. A cost factor for those who take no sick days is included.

Clerks salaries increased $50 a month on the average, depending upon the clerk's status on a ten-year scale.

Clerks hired for 12 months may earn an extra $38 for not using sick time and clerks hired for 10 months may earn an extra $280.

The clerks also received an increase in hospitalization and the maximum vacation was increased from three weeks to four weeks after 12 months of service.

The cooks' salaries were increased 30 cents an hour with a nine-day cost factor which allows cooks to earn an additional $201 with no use of sick time.

Administrators received a six percent raise along with the increase in hospitalization.

Arrest two on 'pigeon-drop' allegations

Annette Taylor, 20, and Sharon Williams, 26, both of East St. Louis, are in Madison County jail in lieu of $25,000 bond each on a charge of attempted theft by deception.

The pair were arrested by Madison police at 11:57 a.m. Monday.

Police, acting on a telephone tip, arrested the two as they allegedly attempted to induce an elderly Madison woman to take $600 out of her savings.

The elderly woman was to have shared in $30,000 allegedly found by one of the women in what police described as a "pigeon drop."

The elderly woman allegedly would have been convinced to "show good faith" or "pay lawyers fees" and be asked to put up several hundred dollars from her bank savings, police reported.

Sign language feature of course on deafness

Mrs. Mary Lou Hudson, a special education teacher in the Granite City school system, has returned from a six-week intensive study program at Gallaudet College, Washington, D.C., which is noted for deafness research, interpreter training and teacher training.

Gallaudet College is the only college in the United States with a demonstration elementary school for the deaf, a model secondary school and a full curriculum and college degree program for the deaf.

While at Gallaudet, Mrs. Hudson studied under Charlotte Baker of the Linguistic Research Laboratory. The course, "Introduction to Language," included background information on the development of language and compared American sign language development to the development of other languages.

The course stressed American sign language as a separate language and its native users as "bilingual" if they use both American sign language and English.

The various sign systems developed for teaching English to deaf children were discussed in detail. Dr. Gerilee Gustafson, author of the internationally used systems SEE II (Seeing Exact English) was guest lecturer for the class.

Dennis Cokely, noted for research in deafness and sign language, was also a guest lecturer.

Mrs. Hudson studied advanced American sign language with Tim Madina, a deaf man who produces his own TV news program daily and teaches sign language at the White House.

New arrest in lounge incident

Gary Ralph Vaughn, 22, of 2438 E. 25th St., was arrested at his home on warrants at 9:25 p.m. Monday.

He had been sought by police since an incident on July 31, outside the Upper Level lounge, 19th and State streets.

Police said Vaughn's wife, Joyce, told them her husband was not home, refused permission to enter the dwelling and allegedly made threats to sue the police.

Vaughn was found hiding in the bedroom and was taken to headquarters.

The warrants charged Vaughn with disorderly conduct and driving while his license was suspended. He also was being sought on outstanding traffic citations charging him with fleeing and attempting to elude police and reckless driving connected with the July 31 incident.

Vaughn, riding a motorcycle, allegedly approached a large group of people outside the Upper Level lounge at 1:25 a.m. July 31, where officers had been called due to a disturbance and were keeping watch to make sure no further trouble developed.

The man reportedly stopped in front of the lounge and raced the cycle's engine, causing a loud noise.

As police cars approached, the cyclist sped away, but returned a few moments later and again raced the engine, with the crowd of youths encouraging him to continue making the noise, according to police.

Squad cars again approached the motorcycle and the rider waved and sped south on the sidewalk to 19th Street, the officers reported.

Madison police set up a roadblock at 20th and Madison Avenue and the cycle reportedly crossed into the oncoming traffic lanes to go around the roadblock and ran a red light at the intersection, it was alleged.

At 23rd Street and Madison Avenue with officers in high-speed pursuit, the cycle passed a van which then changed lanes in front of the police car, nearly causing an accident, it was alleged.

Police said the van tried to stay between the police and cyclist, but officers went into the southbound lanes to pass the obstructing vehicle.

The cyclist went through a roadblock at 26th Street and Madison Avenue and turned east on 26th Street, where police lost sight of the cyclist, authorities said.

The van, which had been following the police since they passed it, was stopped and the driver was arrested on charges of obstructing justice, illegal transportation of alcohol, speeding and failure to yield to an emergency vehicle.

A billy club with a lead tip and open beer were allegedly inside the van, police reported.

About 20 minutes later, police were called to a disturbance in the 2400 block on Lincoln Avenue and found the same man and cycle involved.

As they approached, the man sped away and was chased to the vicinity of East 23rd Street and Highway 162.

Pontoon Beach police and Madison County sheriff's deputies were alerted about the incident and took up the chase near Pontoon Beach, but lost the cyclist.

Granite City officers returned to the residence on Lincoln Avenue and said they were told the cyclist had leaned his bike against an auto and had refused to move it. Words were exchanged and the cyclist allegedly threatened the resident there.

The cycle chase was one of a series of incidents at the Upper Level lounge, including two disturbances during that weekend involving several hundred people and four arrests.

Mayor Paul Schuler announced Aug. 1 the lounge's liquor license had been suspended for a seven-day period.

The action was taken, the mayor said, "for threatening the welfare of Granite City and the citizens of Granite City."

topics ranging from reading and mathematics to nutrition and programs for special education students.

The morning program will conclude with departmental meetings. Faculties will meet in their respective buildings during the afternoon.

Quadrant City parochial schools have planned varying class schedules, and for the first time students who would have attended St. Joseph School now will be enrolled at Sacred Heart School.

St. Joseph School was closed at the end of the 1978 school term. Class schedules for Sacred Heart have not been completed and will be announced at a later date.

St. Margaret Mary School will hold half-day sessions on Wednesday, Aug. 23, from 8:10 to 10 a.m., and on Thursday and Friday, Aug. 24-25, will hold classes from 8:10 to 11:45 a.m. Full-day schedules will begin on Monday, Aug. 28, from 8:10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and lunches will be served.

St. Mary-St. Mark in Madison and Venice will be in session from 8 a.m. to 12 noon on Thursday, Friday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Aug. 24 through Aug. 30, and will begin full-time classes on Thursday, Aug. 31, from 8 a.m. to 3:10 p.m. Lunches will be served with the full-time schedule.

St. Elizabeth School in Granite City will open with half-day classes on Monday, Aug. 28, from 8 a.m. to 12 noon, and continue that week on a half-day schedule. Students will return on Tuesday, Sept. 5, to begin full time classes from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Payless paydays

salaries due from the town fund. An additional $2,700 in bills against the general assistance fund also were approved.

Stevens said the delay in payment apparently "is a temporary cash-flow problem," resulting in the necessity of paying off last year's anticipation warrants before new tax warrants can be issued. Under state law, the township is required to anticipate part of its annual funds necessary to meet expenses in the general assistance fund.

At Edwardsville, the county treasurer's office said that the first distribution of taxes collected by that office was made a week ago and involved a total of $3,050,000 which was apportioned to all taxing districts in the county.

Another distribution is scheduled tomorrow and will involve allocation of more than $4 million in personal property taxes countywide.

A third tax distribution is scheduled next week, probably on Aug. 15. Funds collected for real estate taxes will be sent to tax agencies county wide at that time, the office spokesman said, but the total amount has not yet been determined.

In previous years the distribution of taxes collected by the county treasurer has been criticized by local officials who contend the taxing agencies receive their money later than if all taxes were collected by township collectors and distributed as they were collected.

Robertson traced the history of the local port and he and Port General Manager Carl Randt introduced some of the officials in the audience.

Cooperation by many business firms and such agencies as the Corps of Engineers and Coast Guard have been of great value to the district, it was stressed.

Port commissioners participating included Secretary William M. Ebersoldt, Harold R. Fischer, Henry D. Karandjeff and Homer Huber.

Former commissioners introduced included Donald Partney Jr., Carl E. Mathias, William Harris and Walter "Buck" Simmons.

Ebersoldt, mayor of Venice, was introduced along with Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler and Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk. The three each appoint one of the seven port board members, and the other four commissioners are chosen by the Illinois governor.

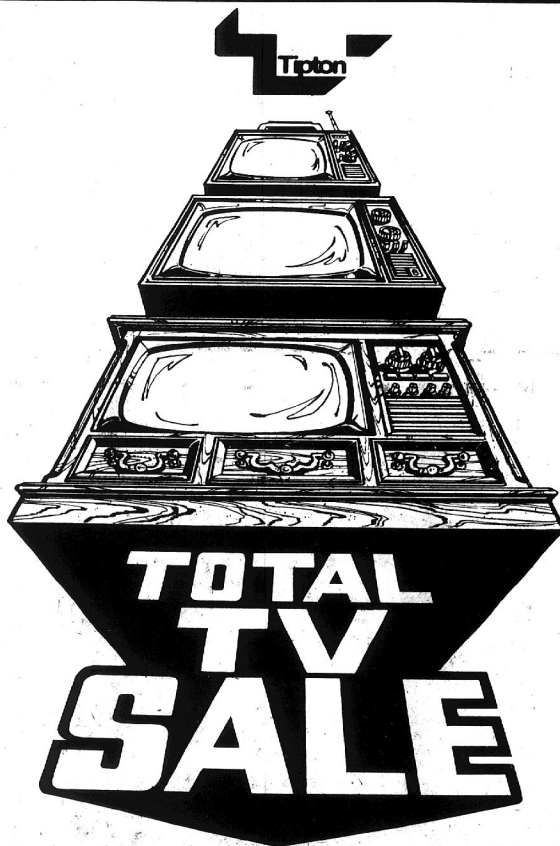

Port facilities besides Art's Fleet Service include the Apex Oil Co., Bulk Service Corp., Granite City Terminals Corp., Tri-City Bulk Terminal and Foreign Trade Zone 31.

New plan for diversion of lake wouldn't raise river level here

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott during the weekend filed a petition with the United States Supreme Court to reopen the 1967 Lake Michigan diversion case which governs allocation of Lake Michigan water to Illinois and water-starved areas of suburban Cook County and adjoining counties.

Scott's plan, if approved by the high court, would make Lake Michigan water available to approximately 800,000 additional Illinois residents without, he asserts, danger of increased river water levels downstream.

The plan would change the 1967 formula for allocation to make more Lake Michigan water immediately available for the use of Illinois and its political subdivisions.

The plan would not significantly increase the amount of water taken from the lake but, rather, would measurably add to Illinois' share by utilizing water now held in reserve under the 1967 formula, Scott explained.

Under the 1967 formula, Illinois is limited to 3,200 cubic feet per second which must include all the rain runoff that flows away from Lake Michigan down the Chicago River.

Because of uncertain annual rainfall patterns, the state must hold part of its water allocation in reserve until the last minute to insure that the water taken from Lake Michigan does not exceed the allowed total of 3,200 cubic feet per second.

The waters held in reserve cannot be allocated and often go unused at the end of the accounting period.

Scott's lawsuit would substitute a 100-year average rainfall constant figure in place of the annual measurements.

This change would end the need for Illinois to hold reserves and would make the water immediately available for allocation and use.

His proposal also calls for the water Illinois takes from the lake to be measured at the Lake Michigan lakefront, rather than at downstream Lockport.

The proposed formula change was developed by the Illinois Water Resources Commission, headed by State Rep. Jack Williams.

Scott estimated that by this bookkeeping change in the 1967 Lake Michigan water allocation formula for Illinois, the state—without increasing actual diversion—could utilize an estimated additional 180 cubic feet of Lake Michigan water per second that is now wasted.

The formula change would make lake water available to dozens of additional Illinois communities that now rely on wells and other diminishing water supplies.

Scott pointed out that the Illinois Division of Waterways, the Chicago Water Department, and the Metropolitan Sanitary District all worked together with the Illinois Water Resources Committee on the plan.

The Army Corps of Engineers has reviewed and approved the Illinois proposal.

Scott also has been in continuous negotiations with the attorneys general from seven other interested states to obtain their consent to his proposed modification of the diversion formula, and thus to avoid the eight-year-long battle which preceded entry of the 1967 decree.

The states of Michigan, Wisconsin, Indiana, Minnesota, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York will have 60 days to respond to Scott's petition. The U.S. State Department will advise Canada of Scott's action.

Young boy may have set fires

A young boy, whose father reports having a learning disability, may have started two outdoor fires Monday evening on Lydia Lane.

Firefighters from the Nannetti Station and police were called to the Richard Duff house, 3324 Lydia Lane, at 6:15 p.m. Monday, where grass clippings and leaves had been piled against a garage door at the rear of the dwelling and then set ablaze.

While officers and firemen were there, neighbors reported a large evergreen shrub at the rear of the Henry Brown residence, 3324 Lydia Lane, also was on fire.

A 12-year-old boy was noticed not far away shaking his head and making gestures with his arms, police said.

A woman reported seeing the boy crouching near the tree, then step back as the tree burst into flames.

Police talked to the boy's father, and the boy was admonished not to play with matches.

Loss to the garage door was estimated at $50. A $50 loss to the evergreen tree also was reported.

Ethnic days in Madison

The annual Madison Ethnic Days, planned on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 25, 26, and 27, co-sponsored by the Madison Fire Department and Amvets Post 204, was the major topic of discussion at the Amvets regular meeting last week.

Commander Vasil Graville urged all members to sign up to work at the event.

He appointed Joe Papa as chairman of the work detail, and a sign-up work sheet was posted on the bulletin board.

Graville also announced the club room will be closed during Ethnic Days.

Illinois State Commander Kenneth Hall of Mount Vernon, Ill., will install the newly-elected officers on Saturday, Sept. 9.

The program will include the annual dinner and dance, with music by Dave Hylle's orchestra.

Bakalis named in $2.2 million libel suit filed by 'Dr. X'

More than $2.2 million in damages are sought in two suits filed in U.S. District Court at Alton against Michael Bakalis, state auditor and candidate for governor of Illinois in next November's general election.

The suits were filed by Dr. Thwan H. Han, a psychiatrist who maintains offices and a counseling center at 2350 Benton St., Granite City, who alleges that Bakalis "injured his credit and reputation as a person, a physician and psychiatrist, and has had monies due him by the state arbitrarily terminated."

Bakalis, the suits charge, "knowingly made false statements" about Han, "with the ulterior motive of obtaining publicity for himself as a gubernatorial candidate."

In addition to requests for $1 million in actual damages and $1 million in punitive damages for alleged injury to Han's reputation, the suits also ask more than $200,000 damages for deprivation of the doctor's livelihood and alleged violation of his constitutional rights under the fifth and 14th amendments to the U.S. Constitution.

Temporary and permanent injunctions preventing Bakalis from making further comments about Han also have been asked in the petitions which request a jury trial. No hearing has been set.

The suits stem from action by Bakalis last January in which he referred to "Dr. X" and said he was cutting off public aid payments for medical services to the doctor because he had billed the state Medicaid program for more than 24 hours work a day on 31 occasions during 1976 and 1977.

In February, Bakalis identified "Dr. X" as Dr. Han, and said he had sent a list of eight names, including that of Dr. Han, to Governor James Thompson whom Bakalis accused of mismanaging public aid payments for medical services.

At that time Dr. Han defended his actions as legal and ethical, noting that in every case of long-day billing, more than one counselor participated. The Granite City area psychiatrist said that at all times the counseling was by himself or someone directly under his supervision with whom he reviewed the progress.

Dr. Han noted that he was paid $183,000 by the state during 1977 for his work with public aid patients, but his overhead and payroll costs totaled $150,000, leaving a net of $33,000.

According to the suits filed for Dr. Han, Bakalis "personally and through employees under his direct control, beginning in October 1977, refused and failed to issue warrants to the state treasurer for payment of medical services provided, even though vouchers for the payments were duly issued to Bakalis by the Illinois Department of Public Aid."

It also is alleged that Bakalis' statements to reporters about the incidents were "calculated to cause injury to the plaintiff's reputation in his capacity as a physician."

In his petition asking an injunction against further action by the comptroller, the complaint said that Bakalis "in order to obtain publicity for his current campaign for governor, will continue such illegal and unconstitutional acts in the future..." and the plaintiff will suffer irreparable harm unless the defendant is restrained.

Creeping juniper as ground cover

By WAYNE B. SIEFFERT
Area Adviser, Horticulture
Creeping junipers make an ideal ground cover for hot sunny locations.

Several creeping junipers can be selected, but one of the most popular is "Blue Rug". Other varieties of junipers often used as a creeping ground cover is Waukegan juniper, Bar Harbor juniper and Andorra juniper. All have the ability to survive the winters in the northern tier of states and southern Canada as well as the scorching summers in St. Louis.

Their height and ultimate spread depends on the variety you plant. Blue Rug juniper will become a plant 6-10 inches tall and 8 feet in diameter.

Andorra juniper will become 18 inches tall and 6 feet in diameter. Bar Harbor will grow to a total spread of 10 feet or more.

All the creeping varieties of junipers are unattractive to bagworms.

Planting strategy depends on the effect you would like to create. If you desire the solid evergreen look, your spacing would be 3-4 feet apart.

If you prefer the effect of individual plants combined with landscape features or other perennials, consider a spacing of 8-10 feet apart.

All the creeping junipers perform well when plastic is used to control weeds and decorative rock is used to stabilize the plastic and naturalize the location.

Pruning should consist of cutting back individual branches rather than trimming along the edge of a sidewalk or driveway. Pick up the protruding branch and cut back a foot or more from the edge.

When you cut at a promising side branch, you will create a natural "frilled" edge of the plant while you prevent it from creeping into an unwanted area.

Burglar gets meat at Emerson School

A burglary at Emerson School, reported Monday by Principal Alfred Wilson, also involved vandalism in various parts of the building.

Entry was gained by prying a window screen and breaking the glass on the west side of the school.

Muddy prints were observed leading to the second floor, with police noting the burglar was barefoot.

Classrooms and offices on the second floor were entered and their contents disturbed. In the downstairs boiler room, a fire extinguisher was discharged, leaving white powder on the floor and other items.

A storeroom was ransacked, parts were dumped onto the floor and tools were stolen.

In the basement, a double door freezer was opened and an unknown quantity of frozen meat was taken.

Explosive murder trial at TV drama

The explosive rape and murder trial of Inez Garcia will be presented as a 90-minute courtroom drama "THE PEOPLE VS. INEZ GARCIA" at 10:30 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 13 on Channel 9. Parental guidance is being suggested.

Starring Silvana Gallardo as Garcia and Robert Loggia as attorney Charles Garry, the dramatization is based on an adaptation of the actual court transcripts of Garcia's original trial in Monterey, Calif., in 1974.

At that time, she was found guilty of murdering the accused of her rape.

The trial, accused celebrator for the women's movement, was adapted for television by 1975 Northern California Emmy Award winner Reta Down ("Voices" by Susan Griffin), who also co-produced and directed the program.

The drama poses questions of concern to both men and women. "Is rape a justification for murder?" "Can an alleged rape victim get a fair trial in a judicial system dominated by men?" "Can minorities get a fair shake by the criminal justice system of the U.S.?" "What is the legal definition of 'self defense'?"

The State Court of Appeals reversed the conviction in December 1975 on grounds that the trial judge erred in his instructions to the jury.

Between trials, she served 15 months of a five-year-to-life sentence, and was freed on $5,000 bail to await her new trial. Her second trial began in February 1977 and on March 4, 1977, the jury returned a verdict of innocent.

Her innocence in light of her new legal defense, self-defense, has been heralded as a landmark decision, with grave consequences for future perpetrators of rape.

Computer training

Martha L. Weiss of B & K Bookkeeping has returned from a week's training on payroll and accounts receivable programs the local company soon will be using.

Miss Weiss, a partner in the firm, reports that the new programs are more comprehensive and much faster than those presently used.

Another advantage of the new programs is that they can be used on the company's present computer as well as the new computer to be installed at the Nameoki Road office, she said.

I-270 moving toward its completion date in 1983

The Illinois Department of Transportation has announced that four contracts have been awarded for work on Interstate 270 in St. Clair County.

A contract in the amount of $2,361,445 was awarded to Haydon Construction Company of Cahokia for construction of a three-span bridge carrying Interstate 270 over Summit Avenue in East St. Louis.

H. H. Hall Construction Co. of East St. Louis was awarded a $1,127,746 contract to build a two-span bridge carrying I-270 over Bond Avenue at Alorton.

A contract for drainage work in Frank Hollen State Park at Centerville in the amount of $664,435 was awarded to Hoeft Bros., of Belleville. Keeley and Sons, Inc., East St. Louis, was awarded a $57,418 contract for construction of a concrete box culvert carrying I-270 over the Pack Lake outlet ditch in Frank Hollen State Park.

Construction started last year on replacing the Jefferson Barracks Bridge to connect the new highway with I-270 in Missouri.

This work consists of two new, separate 4,000-foot structures spanning the Mississippi River. Each of the twin structures will carry three lanes of one-way traffic.

Approximately $18.1 million is currently under contract at the JB Bridge, a $60 million project.

Once completed in Illinois, Interstate 270 will complete the circumferential route for the St. Louis-Illinois metropolitan area.

The Missouri portion is completed except for 1 1/2 miles on the Missouri side of the Jefferson Barracks Bridge.

Present planned interchanges are at U.S. 40 east of Fairmount Race Track near Collinsville; Interstate 64 between Illinois 157 and Illinois 111 in Canton Township; State Street; Illinois 15 west of the Cahokia Downs Race Track in Alorton; Camp Jackson Road at Cahokia; Illinois 3 south of Dupu; and Illinois 3 at the Jefferson Barracks Bridge Road.

Present estimated costs are $300 million for construction of the six-lane Interstate 270 from the Jefferson Barracks Bridge near Columbia to a connection with existing Interstates 55-70 just west of Illinois 157 at Collinsville.

Studies are currently in progress for the remaining I-270 portion from Interstates 55-70 to the existing Interstate 270 just south of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Costs for this final segment of I-270 are currently estimated at between $50 and $60 million.

The completed Interstate 270 is expected to be open to traffic in 1983, Dale L. Klor, district engineer of the Transportation Department for District Eight, said this week.

Grindstaff promoted

Gaylord E. Grindstaff has been named general manager of Brown Shoe Company's Leather Purchasing Department. It is being announced by Joseph E. Diekmann Jr., vice-president, purchasing.

Grindstaff resided in Granite City for 20 years before moving to St. Louis County.

He succeeds Howard M. Monroe, who has been given another assignment within the company. Grindstaff joined Brown Shoe Co. in 1968 and has served in managerial capacities throughout the purchasing operation.

In 1973, he was named superintendent of the Upper Leather Material Warehouse. And in 1977 he became a buyer for the Upper Leather Department, his most recent position.

SIUE still accepting fall '78 applications

Students can still apply for admission to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville in time to enroll in classes this fall, according to Eugene Magac, assistant director of admissions and records.

Applications for admission of entering freshmen, transfer students, re-entering students, and persons taking courses for their own enrichment are still being accepted, Magac said.

"We will be accepting applications through Sept. 13," Registration without an appointment (open registration) will be held Sept. 19 from 1 until 7 p.m. and Sept. 20 from 8:30 a.m. until 7 p.m. To be considered for admission to the university, a person must be a graduate of an accredited high school or must have passed the General Educational Development (GED) test.

Individuals who would like to take a course for their own enrichment may do so by applying for admission as non-degree students. If a student in this category decides to work toward a degree at a later date, it will be necessary to follow regular admission procedures, Magac said.

Applications for admission may be picked up at any time in the Office of Admissions and Records, Room 1207 of the John S. Rendleman Building.

Madison concerned over danger from tank cars

The condition of the railroad tracks, in Madison and the safety of citizens from the possibility of a propane or chemical tank explosion by truck or train was a major topic of discussion at the Madison City Council meeting Tuesday night.

Mayor Mike Sasyk said, "I intend to bring this up at our next meeting of the Southwestern Illinois Council of Mayors and the Illinois Municipal League. The matter should be explored more and perhaps we can force some action through the state legislature."

The discussion was prompted by the explosion of a propane tank car late Saturday in a derailment at a rail crossing north of Collinsville. Approximately 200 persons were evacuated from a mile-square area around the site of the explosion.

Civil Defense Director Charles Krakowicki reported to the council he will be taking special training in such a disaster situation in two weeks.

Fire Chief Eldon Rhoads reported the Madison Fire Department has several men trained on handling tank car problems, both truck and rail. Krakowicki reported that the new city emergency siren is in service and that Mike Macke is working on the installation.

The siren was described as "the most powerful siren available."

The siren has three distinctive tones for different types of emergencies. After it is installed the public will be informed of the tone differences and what they mean.

He also reported that the Emergency Service Radio Organization (ESRO) had a rummage sale and earned $250 for their projects.

The City Council approved a call for sealed bids for a new track-type loader on a lease-purchase agreement, and bids on three police cars, one new detective car and two 1979 patrol cars.

The council approved Saturday, Sept. 13, for the Madison Avenue to close the street at 13th between Iowa Street and Washington Avenue for their annual street dance, dinner and installation of officers.

Bills in the amount of $25,986 were approved for July 25 to Aug. 8.

Mayor Sasyk reminded those attending the council meeting that Thursday, Aug. 17, will be Democrat Day at the State Fair in Springfield. He urged everyone to attend and take part in the activities.

Planning grants for this area

The Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs has awarded $92,500 in comprehensive planning assistance grants to the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission, according to Acting Director J. Thomas Johnson.

The grants are $85,000 for area-wide planning activities and $7,500 for provision of technical advisory planning services to local governments of the region.

The money is part of a federal grant made to Illinois by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for support of comprehensive planning activities at the state, regional and local levels.

The 12-month funding, effective July 1, will permit the commission to undertake several activities related to Bond, Clinton, Madison, St. Louis, Randolph, Clark and Washington counties, Johnson said.

Programs being funded include:

- Continuation of the regional housing program to assist local governments to implement programs aimed at improving the housing resources of the region.

- Undertaking a regional industrial development planning program. This program will include the identification of industrial sites in the region and the provision of local industrial development assistance.

- Providing assistance to local governments in rural areas of the region, aimed at addressing problems unique to rural areas.

- Conducting a program for encouraging local governments of the region to implement policies the previously adopted Regional Development Policies Guide.

- Providing governmental management services for local governments of the region, focused upon the provision of administrative, management and operational-oriented services and assistance.

Stevenson—a bridge over the troubled lock-dam waters?

If U.S. Senator Adlai Stevenson's crystal ball is clear rather than cloudy, the stormy debate over Alton Locks and Dam 26 and inland waterway tolls may be nearing an end. He predicts a compromise on the two issues, which have been linked together at the insistence of the leverage-seeking Carter Administration.

The chief executive presumably will sign legislation authorizing a $432 million project, providing new Mississippi River facilities two miles downstream from the present dam. The age, size and deterioration of the locks and dam have caused increasing concern—and serious congestion.

In return, it is being forecast that waterway shippers will not make a strenuous fight against the imposition of a 10-cent-per-gallon tax on barge fuel. They prefer none, or less than a dime. Pres. Carter has favored much higher taxation at a level that barge lines say would be "confiscatory"—a tax level thought to have been barred by America's founding fathers. Railroads favoring a high barge tax may or may not withdraw their suit against a new dam.

Plans call for the proposed nationwide ten-cent tax to go into a trust fund to finance further waterway construction. Congress would retain the right to allocate general revenue for such projects.

If Sen. Stevenson can nudge all parties into harmony, it will have been a major accomplishment for the Illinoisan. He has been keeping his eyes on the central point—that the Alton locks and dam are indispensable to the Midwest and nation, and that they clearly cannot last forever.

'Drop the other shoe' on allegations of county misconduct

Widespread interest in this summer's federal racketeering-perjury trial in Madison County is understandable. Not only were three Quad Cityans convicted—a verdict they are appealing—but U.S. Attorney Gerald Fines presented extensive testimony alleging to possible misconduct by other persons.

For there to be public confidence in governmental processes, it is important that all facts be aired. The citizenry here and elsewhere has had a good "track record" in reaching appropriate decisions on a variety of issues once there has been an opportunity to obtain adequate information on what has been happening.

Now that the trial has spotlighted a number of individuals associated with the Madison County sheriff department, no good can be served by "looking the other way." For their sake as well as that of the taxpayer, all possible steps must be taken to "clear the air" and either exonerate or prosecute those under suspicion.

Construction halt harms contractors and their employees

The continuing construction strike, timed for the heart of the building season, is doing considerable economic damage to both contractors and workers. It seems especially unfortunate, because agreement was reached by all but one of the crafts; the lack of the one pact stops nearly all area building projects, totaling in the hundreds of million dollars.

Because the building season in this part of the nation is limited by the weather, it is crucial for all parties that a mutually agreeable contract be achieved. Frequent and detailed negotiating sessions are imperative.

Samantha shows her political skill by picking 'prime time'

Regardless of the outcome of this fall's gubernatorial election, observers give Governor James Thompson a high score on the timing and sure-fire appeal of his Aug. 3 announcement—a seven-pound, four-ounce daughter.

First child born to a "reigning" governor in this state in 72 years, Samantha Jayne

Thompson made her debut in "prime time"—four months after the Illinois primary and three months before the general election. Brown haired, she is likely to be tall like her parents.

"She's just perfect," her elated father says. His equally-elated campaign staff agrees.

RIVER FESTIVAL headliners on the SIUE campus will include composer-singer-guitarist Harry Chapin at 8 o'clock tonight and the newly reunited vocal group, Peter, Paul and Mary, at 8 p.m. Friday.

ACT ADOPTED
On July 22, 1922, Congress adopted the Federal Home Loan Bank Act, which authorized the creation of regional banks to help financial institutions lend money to home owners.

Avoid deficit spending—candidate

To the Editor:
The single most important issue in our lives today is inflation. Vital efforts to control this creeping cancer must be made now.

One method to control inflation is to stop excessive governmental spending.

We cannot continue to satisfy every special interest with money. Efficient and well-reasoned use of tax money is absolutely imperative.

Tightening controls on welfare fraud is necessary. Savings can and must be made in government spending to avoid the necessity of raising taxes.

My household is not run on deficit spending and, if elected, I will do my best to see that the government's isn't either.

There is a lesson in which I will address myself as senator will be that of limiting campaign expenses.

It is important that all voters have the opportunity to serve as elected officials if they so desire. This is not possible when one must spend huge sums of money in order to be elected.

Two immediate dangers arise in the presence of no limitations on campaign expenses: Only the very wealthy can mount a sufficient campaign to compete for election, or one must "sell" oneself to special interest groups in order to raise support and funds.

Limited expenditures would help insure that competition is based on reality, rather than slick production and influence.

Encouraging more citizens to run for office depends much on making it a realistic possibility.

Limited campaign expenses would further this cause.

Election to public office is a sacred trust bestowed by the voters. It is the duty of elected officials to honor that trust, so as to avoid the slightest misuse of office or hint of dishonesty. Although it is difficult to legislate moral quality or honesty of intent, legislation of actions is possible.

A code of ethics is needed that will provide standards and direction for all public officials, whether elected or appointed. Provision for public disclosure of finances of public office seekers and holders is essential. Everything must be open.

When a candidate becomes a "professional citizen" by running for office, or is part of the public trust, he or she must be able to withstand the public scrutiny. Public servants are public, and need to be aware of these responsibilities.

Prevent pets from being nuisances

To the Editor:
I would like to make a plea to all pet owners to please take care of their animals, especially in the area of letting their pets become nuisances.

Animals have no conception of respect for other's property. There is a leash law in Granite City so please keep your dog on a leash or confined in your own yard.

Putting a dog in a small pen is not my own personal idea of an ideal habitat, so I recommend fencing in your yard if you can afford it. Unfortunately, some people can't, so they should use other methods as long as they are humane.

But there is no excuse for letting a dog run loose, destroying people's flower gardens. I've received complaints from non-dog-owning residents who have had manure fly up at their faces while mowing their lawn. Would you like to pick a tomato where dogs have visited?

Perhaps dog owners don't think this is to help them do just that, or one day their dog may be picked up by the pound because someone complained about it.

This also applies to dogs with a collar and tag, also. There are no substitutes for a leash.

Cats are a problem harder to handle. But if the owner would neuter or spay the cat, he wouldn't bear quite so many fights waking him up from a peaceful sleep.

Please, let's take care of our animals, and our neighbors won't "take care" of us.
MARY FORTE
Publicity Chairman
Association for the Protection of Animals

Feeling of attainment by handicapped

To the Editor:
I would like to publicly thank the people who volunteered their time teaching the physically handicapped swim program sponsored by the American Red Cross.

We had a wonderful group of volunteers who gave freely of their time. Those who made the program successful were Jim Down, Marian Hartung, Margie Hefflin, Nan Henderson, Terry Hunter, Mary Jesse, Ron Labory, Robert Lutes, Mark McAmish, Monica McAmish, Pat McAmish, Georgia Miller, Becky Smith, Jon Vance, Linda Walsh, Tom Walsh, Rich Werthe, Beth Wilkins, Marilyn Wilson, Lois Winter and Edith Woods.

Special thanks also go to Mr. and Mrs. Roger M. Bowler, who contributed their pool and facilities for the program.

It is very gratifying to see the proud look of accomplishment on the faces of the handicapped students as they master water skills.

Energy agency's goal—no energy

Wall Street Journal — President Nixon put U.S. energy policy in the hands of the Federal Energy Office (FEO), later expanded into the Federal Energy Agency (FEA) and now transmogrified into the giant Department of Energy (DOE).

We suggest one final change in the acronym, to DONE, the Department of No Energy.

Clearly, the true function of the Department of Energy is to prevent Americans from having energy.

Let us cite a few examples: The people of Kansas and Missouri have a present and future need for natural gas. Cities Service has found gas for them in the "tight sands" formations of Wyoming and has produced such gas.

So far, the proven reserves from this one find are 6.5 trillion cubic feet, enough to keep the two states in gas for a good many years.

But after two years, DONE still hasn't given Cities Service permission to build a pipeline to transport the gas.

The people of Buffalo, N.Y., in the energy-short Northeast, have natural gas practically in their backyards as a result of recent discoveries in Chautauqua County.

But the distributor has not been able to get DONE permission to use an interstate pipeline for moving the gas to Buffalo.

Thirty-five major industrial companies that depend heavily on natural gas as either a fuel or feedstock would like to protect themselves and their workers and customers against shut-downs during winter cold snaps.

The 35—GM, Bethlehem Steel, Anchor Hocking, Burlington Industries, etc. have petitioned DONE to change policies that discourage them from developing their own "self-help" sources of gas from deposits too small or hard to produce to interest gas utilities.

The hang-up again is getting permission to move such gas through pipelines, even though many pipelines now operate at well below capacity.

But they needn't be overly hopeful as long as what passes for a national energy policy regards industrial use of natural gas—even gas no one else wants—as something approximating sin.

Similar thinking has led DONE to refuse to let American companies buy gas from Mexico, on grounds that the price they were willing to pay for it was "too high."

It has given rise to something called "incremental pricing," which means assigning a price to unmet classes of consumers on the basis of Delphic judgments about the precise degree to which each is entitled to use natural gas.

DONE now has a backlog of some 40,000 cases, which in itself helps account for why it has become the no-energy agency.

The so-called natural gas compromise gets the through Congress and "incremental pricing" becomes the rule, we can expect that backlog to be multiplied still further, sinking DONE into the mud flats of Buzard's Point under the weight of its own proceduralism and insuring that nothing thereafter gets approved.

Yet DONE has managed to silence many potential industry critics of such idiocies because of its life and death power over their business.

"We're not about to criticize an agency that has as much power as they have over what we do," says one producer source.

There are rumors floating around Washington of the Carter administration stepping up its regulatory handball against industry as it becomes more desperate to push half-baked energy policies through Congress.

For all this, American taxpayers are privileged to pay $1 billion a year, or $200 for every

Jail order 'unjustified'

New York Times — The Times has been fined severely and our colleague, M. A. Farber, has been ordered to jail indefinitely for refusing to reveal the confidential sources of news reports to a New Jersey court.

These punishments for contempt of court are so great as to intimidate the most prosperous publishers and most courageous reporters. And the costs of contesting these sentences can be borne only by the most sturdy and affluent.

So even vindication for the Times would not erase the damage that has been done to enterprising journalism.

Anything less than vindication, we feel certain, will cripple every newspaper's ability to search out the news the community should prize the most.

We are uncomfortable as martyrs in this matter. We do not normally make news of the techniques by which we gather news because what we print is there each day for all the world to challenge.

Usually we are quick to state what we told us what to help the reader evaluate the information. But when, as frequently occurs around the White House or around a Courthouse informant offers us news in exchange for a pledge of confidentiality, we give priority to the information.

In most cases it can be verified whoever the source and whatever the source's motive. And without our bond of trust it might never become known.

That is how we get our best stories—the ones that touch the most sensitive nerves of state, that identify an injustice or break open a conspiracy, and that for reasons of luck or skill come only to one newspaper and to no other.

Probed, no doubt, by the interest but with their own resources, state officials decided to reopen the case and persuaded a grand jury to charge a physician with murder.

No one at The Times witnessed any crime. The Times articles did not indict the defendant.

All that The Times has written is subject to independent inquiry. Yet the defendant insists that without all of The Times's files in this case he cannot properly contest the charge or prove what he calls a frame-up.

And despite and admirable state law that grants a reporter's right to protect his confidential sources, angered judges have set out to reveal Farber's will and to punish his newspaper as no other has ever been punished.

Our crime was to refuse the request to pursue a constitutional question to the highest court.

So the defendant watches while the investigator of his case is taken off to jail. And judges seethe because they mistakenly believe that a reporter desires to supplant them in judging what is material evidence.

They honor the First Amendment, the judges insist, and the law protecting sources, but why can't they read the notes to satisfy themselves that the trial could continue without the unpublished information?

A court, no matter how benign, is to us an arm of the state.

A promise to protect a source is to us a promise to protect it against any third party.

The ability to perform the function that the First Amendment seeks so clearly to protect, we argue, requires our man to bid the Supreme Court to set him free.

KAUFMAN AND HART PLAY. Left to right are Greg Bosch of St. Louis, Annette Tarpoff of Granite City and Terry Banks of Alton, practicing their lines for "You Can't Take It With You," a student production at SIUE. Performances will be given tonight, Friday and Saturday at 8:15 and on Sunday, Aug. 13, at 2:30 p.m., in the Communications Building theater. Taking the audience back to the early '30s, the set was designed and constructed by Charles Otis Swezey, director of set design in the Department of Theater and Dance.

Six GC teams ready for State Fair International Soccer Expo

SPRINGFIELD — In conjunction with the Illinois State Fair which begins here today, the 32-team International Soccer Expo will be held at the Fairgrounds in Springfield and at Sangamon State University near here.

Six Granite City teams, along with teams from other areas of Illinois, St. Louis, Indiana, Ohio and a team from England will make up the large field. Competition will be conducted in five different divisions, with a Granite City team playing in each and two in one classification.

The tournament should actually be termed "tournaments." Each age division will hold its own separate tournament, with each lasting two days.

Age groups to hold tournaments will be Boys 16 years old and under, Boys 14 years old and under, Boys 10-and-Under, Boys 12- and Under, and Girls 16-and-Under.

Representing Granite City in the Boys 16-and-Under Division will be Finley Plating. Mendoza Sporting Goods will play in the Boys 14-and-Under Division.

The Ballwin Gunners will play in the Boys 10-and-Under Division, Barnett's Terminals in the Boys 12-and-Under Division and the Madison County Girls Soccer Team and Granite City Royals will play in the Girls 16-and-Under Division. There will be one game each day played at 5 p.m. at the State Fairgrounds, in the infield area in front of the grandstand. All other games will be played at Sangamon State University.

The boys 14-and-Under Tournament will be held Aug. 10 and 11. Mendoza Sporting Goods' first game will be at Sangamon

State Aug. 10 at 8 a.m. There will be 12 teams entered in the tournament which will be conducted on a double-elimination basis.

The Girls and Boys 16-and-Under Tournaments will be held Aug. 12 and 13. The Girls tournament will be a three-team round-robin affair. The Madison County Girls will play against the South Side Kickers from Springfield at 10 a.m. Saturday at 10 a.m. at Sangamon State. The Royals will face the Kickers the same day at Sangamon State.

The Madison County Girls will play the Royals at 3 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 13. In the Boys 16-and-Under Tournament, Finley Plating will play North Side Belemont from Cincinnati on Saturday, Aug. 12 at 10:15 a.m. at Sangamon State. The tournament will be a seven-team double-elimination affair.

The Boys 14-and-Under Tournament will be played on Monday, and Tuesday, Aug. 14 and 15. It will be a four-team round-robin tourney. The Ballwin Gunners will face the Chatham (Ill.) Crush at 10 a.m. at Sangamon State. At 5 p.m. on the same day, the Gunners will play the Peoria All-Stars at the Fairgrounds.

The Boys 12-and-Under Tournament will be played on Wednesday and Thursday, Aug. 16 and 17. It will be a six-team winner-loser's bracket round robin tournament. The winners of the first games will face each other in round-robin format, as will the losers.

Barnett's Terminals will play the Peoria Junior Soccer Association All-Stars at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday at Sangamon State.

The British in the Boys 12-and-Under Tournament comes from Leicester, England. The squad is on a summer-long playing tour of the United States.

"We thought they (Leicester) would attract a few more teams to the tournament if we had them in it," said Jack Handy, one of the tournament directors. "One of the coaches at Sangamon State, George Rawlings, is from near Leicester and helped arrange their visit."

But Handy noted a problem in attracting teams to the first-ever soccer expo. "In the beginning of this effort, we weren't sanctioned by the Illinois Youth Soccer Association," he said. "That scared off a few teams which were interested in playing."

"But since that time, we've been fully accredited and we are sanctioned by the IYSA."

The Soccer Expo is under the direction of the State Fair Agency and, according to Handy, is going to be an annual event at the fair.

"Soccer's becoming more and more popular each year," said Handy. "We want to let people in other areas of the state get accustomed to it and we feel having tournaments like this will increase state-wide interest in it."

"Right now, the only places soccer is really popular are around Granite City, Chicago and Springfield."

"The Granite City area had a head-start on the rest of the state," he added. "Being so close to St. Louis and with soccer being popular there for a number of years. But, with tournaments like this and more people becoming interested in it, soccer began to take on state-wide popularity."

Schooley, Illinois hope to 'go airborne' in '78

By PETE HAYES

Press-Record Sports Editor
ST. LOUIS — Granite City South product Tom Schooley, the University of Illinois' leading pass receiver last season was among several Illinois football players who visited St. Louis Tuesday night along with U of I Sports Information director Mike Pearson on the squad's annual "Poster Tour" throughout the Illinois and surrounding states area. The meeting was at the Robert E. Lee on the Mississippi Riverfront.

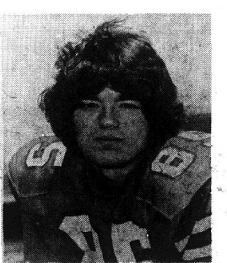

The trip is made each summer to promote Illinois football season, introduce fans to new Illinois recruits and explain just how they expect the Illinois football season to go. The word "Poster" comes from the distribution of Illinois football schedule posters.

Besides Schooley, Collinsville's Rick George and Edwardsville's Mark Helle (both freshman recruits) were in attendance at the meeting.

Three other St. Louis area players will dot the Illinois roster this season. They are Calvin Thomas from McKinley High in St. Louis, Darryl Wilson from University City High School and Bonji Bonner from Summer High of St. Louis.

Illinois SID Pearson said he hopes the numbers of recruits the school got from this area is an indication of things to come.

"I think it's a good sign that we're

TOM SCHOOLEY

(Illinois) finally getting back into this area in recruiting," he said. "I hope it's indicative of things to come in future years. 'It's been a long time coming.'"

Many experts have already placed Illinois near the bottom of pre-season football polls in the Big Ten Conference. But Schooley doesn't see it that way.

"Coach Mueller (second-year coach Gary) has made a lot of improvements on our squad since he got here," he said. "He's got a good staff surrounding him and he doesn't try to do it all himself."

ANOTHER THING about the situation at Illinois which pleases Schooley is the fact that there are two new quarterbacks on the team. Gone are last season's two senior quarterbacks, Kurt Steger and Mike McCray. The two alternated starting at QB all of last season.

Their replacements are sophomore Rich Weiss and junior transfer student Larry McCullough from Highland, Kansas. Junior College. While Steger and McCray were fine running quarterbacks, they lacked in the passing department. Weiss and McCullough, on the other hand, are excellent option quarterbacks, meaning they can not only run, but are also excellent passers.

The pre-season competition between the two this spring was heated. In fact, they tangled at one point during a workout.

Weiss was a highly-touted freshman last season and should be the favorite to land the number one job this spring, but he'll get strong competition from McCullough, coming out of the strong Jayhawk Athletic Conference in Kansas.

To Schooley's delight, that means the Illinois will probably go to the end of the season. While he was the team's leading receiver last season, he did it with only 13 catches, good for 231 yards (a 15.4 yards-per-catch average) and one touchdown. His longest was 44 yards.

In other words, the Illinois weren't exactly an air-oriented team last season. Between the two of them, Steger and McCray made good on 55 of 125 total passing attempts last campaign. Steger completed 25 of 55 and McCray 30 of 60. The other completions were made by running backs on option plays.

On the other hand, Illinois had a powerful running game, relatively speaking. With James Coleman and company leading the way last season, the Illinois had a respectable rushing game.

But opposing defenses became aware of the Illinois' inability to pass with any amount of consistency, and therefore concentrated on the running game. When that happens, it shuts down any team's offense. That will change this season, according to Schooley.

"We'll still be able to get our running game going," he said. "There's no question about that in my mind. But after we do, we'll be able to go to the air. That's something we couldn't do last year."

'Y' needs players

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City YMCA Soccer program is still in need of boys born in the years 1971 and 1972 for play during the soccer season.

Also needed are five additional coaches for a variety of age groups of teams.

The YMCA fall soccer season will begin Saturday, Sept. 9 with a parade from Nameki School to St. Elizabeth's, where the season's first games will be played.

The 12-15 game season will run until November.

For more information, those interested may call the Tri-Cities Area YMCA at 876-7002.

Legion State Tourney starts today

HIGHLAND — The Illinois American Legion State baseball tournament began here this morning, and by now Marissa coach Kent Vollert knows pretty much how his team stacks up against the larger teams from the North part of the state. Marissa was to have played Barrington at 10 o'clock this morning in the first game of the tournament. Rock Island faced Highland at 1 p.m. Bellwood will play the winner of the Marissa-Barrington game at 4 p.m. and Decatur will face the winner of the second game at 6 p.m. The tournament is a double-elimination affair. Marissa, coming into the tournament with a 34-11 record, came out of the loser's bracket in the Division playoffs last week at Carlyle and knows what it is to come from behind. The team trailed Cahokia most of the regular season in the South Division standings of District 22, but caught them and passed them up at season's end.

Marissa is technically Tri-City Post 113's replacement at the state tournament. Both teams play in District 22.

Tri-City made the trip to the state tourney the last two seasons and had high hopes this campaign, but dropped its first two games of the playoffs and was eliminated.

Tri-City finished as state runners-up in both 1976 and 1977 to Arlington Heights, which also failed to make it to the tournament this season.

The winner of the state tournament will advance to the American Legion World Series later this month.

GC schools set for fall sports

GRANITE CITY — Physical examinations, equipment handouts and first practices indicate that the fall school sports season isn't far away.

Both Granite City High Schools have scheduled dates for physicals for both boys and girls, as well as first practices for football and soccer.

Boys who plan to participate in any fall sport at Granite City High School should report to the South Gymnasium Monday, August 14 at 6 p.m.

"Physicals for boys at Granite City North will be given Tuesday, Aug. 15 at 6 p.m. in the North Gymnasium."

All girls who will play a fall sport will be given physicals on Wednesday, Aug. 23 at 6 p.m. in the South gym. There will be a $5 charge for all physical examinations.

Football and soccer practice at both North and South will begin Wednesday, Aug. 16.

Football practice at North will begin at 9 a.m. Aug. 16. The first practice at South will be the same day beginning at 8 a.m.

Soccer practice at North will begin at 8:30 a.m. Aug. 16 and again at 6 p.m. North soccer coach Bob Kehoe has scheduled a team meeting for all boys interested in playing soccer for North this fall, including all returning players and incoming freshmen for Tuesday, Aug. 15 at 10 a.m. in the North gym. At the meeting, he will go over team rules and objectives for the coming season.

South soccer practice will begin Aug. 16 at 10 a.m. at the South practice field behind the school.

Football equipment at North will be issued to the varsity players Aug. 14 from 4:30 until 7 p.m. Sophomores will get equipment at 3 p.m. on Aug. 15 and freshmen equipment will be issued at 7 p.m. Aug. 16.

South football equipment will be issued to juniors and seniors from 9 until noon Aug. 14, to sophomores from 1 until 3 p.m. on the same day and to all others Aug. 15 from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 3 p.m.

Cross country practice will begin Aug. 16 at both North and South. North practices will be at 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. and South will begin at 8 a.m.

St. Louis cross country coach Dick Harmon has scheduled a team meeting for Tuesday, Aug. 15 at which time lockers will be assigned to all prospective runners.

Parent permission slips must be turned in to all coaches in all sports before any athlete will be allowed to participate in practice. The slips may be picked up at either high school's main office during regular business hours.

T-Ball's a big hit Ready, aim, swing!

GRANITE CITY — Little League starts them young, but not young enough for many Granite City boys who crave to play baseball as soon as they can go to school.

The answer is T-Ball, a game played just like baseball, except the batter doesn't have to worry about hitting a baseball whizzing over home plate after leaving a pitcher's hand.

Instead, the ball is placed in front of the player, supported by a funnel-like plastic device on top of a tee about three feet off the ground.

Boys in the Granite City Park District ages 8 and 9 swing away in T-Ball with the same enthusiasm as their older friends.

T-Ball has some additional variations which permit the little ones to play without undue frustration because of their size.

Twenty feet from the home plate a semicircle is drawn. The ball must be hit out of it or it's a foul ball. Also, there is no stealing allowed.

There are three T-Ball leagues in the Park District and they're holding their post-season playoffs now. Last night, in the Salty Parker League, Lindsay Construction defeated the Tigers in the championship game 13-12 in a game with as much excitement as a major league all-star game.

In other T-Ball games last night, The Hawks beat the Falcons 22-17 in the Officer Friendly League championship game and the Eagles beat Pelek's Angels 12-11 in the semifinals of the Salty Parker Blue Division playoffs.

The girls selected were: Football Cheerleaders—Robyn Johnson and Karen Myracle. Soccer Cheerleaders—Deanna Orris, Kelly Smith and Chris Clay. Three other girls—Sue Basarich, Ellen Fever and Edna Thomas—found it possible to also attend camp and so the eight girls served as a cheerleading team in winning numerous awards for Granite City High School North. Interiors . . . and more Vignette of child's room, upper left, features an antique white chest delicately traced with pink and blue highlights, set against a wall papered with tiny floral motifs on a white background. Pictures and accessories coordinate the youthful theme. Top right, window treatment display on the main floor to the right of the open stairway. Kathy Lombardi and Alice Baugh, decorating consultants, discuss appropriate art objects to complement the decor. First alcove is done in brown and beige tones, the middle display is in a crisp blue and white, and to the right is a gold and green combination with autumn hues. Center right, a nest of tables in gold leaf, imported from Italy, accents arrangement of mirrors and paintings in gold frames. Lower right, Ellie Falcetta, a store employee, descends the open oak stairway, the focal point of the main display room. In background is the balcony of vignettes, each decorated in a distinctive motif including Early American, oriental, modern and traditional, and walls of original oil-paintings and miniatures. Lower left, Bob Lombardi checks exclusive carpet samples in the enlarged carpet department furnished by leading carpet mills and floor covering companies.

Lombardi Interiors opens new store

By DONNA HARTWICK
Press-Record Staff Writer

A distinctive and fashionable paint and decorating business, Lombardi Paint and Interiors, Inc., has moved after 16 years from the corner of 23rd and State Streets to a newly-renovated building at 23rd Street and Madison Avenue, featuring large open display rooms and a more extensive array of home furnishings.

Owned and operated by Bob and Kathy Lombardi, the store specializes in serving individual home owners, apartment dwellers and businessmen with professional advice on decorating and remodeling to suit the patrons' flair for living or provide decor suitable for business offices.

A correlated line of wall paper from many companies, including flock, vinyl, embossed, grass cloth, burlap and foils to coordinate with paints and fabrics to complement, in good taste, the modern, provincial, Early American, contemporary or traditional furnishings, are easily accessible.

Accessory pictures, vases, lamps, unusual decorative and exquisite ornamental objects of art are on display for selection to complement an overall plan in timeless styling.

Displays of accent furniture are arranged in special features at various locations throughout the store. The open stairway leads to the balcony of vignette alcoves depicting rooms for children, traditional furnishings, oriental, country and Indian and Early American.

One vignette to the front of the balcony is done in French and Italian with embossed paper above a chair rail in compatible color, ornate tables, mirrors in gold frames, miniatures and original oil paintings which focus on elegance in fine furniture and decor.

A new and quality addition to the accessory department is a vignette on the upper level of Rembrandt, Sufel and Frederick Cooper lamps, surrounded by walls of original oil paintings.

Alcove exhibits to the left of the stairway, on the main floor, opens a new avenue to window treatment. Custom-made sheers, drapes, woven woods and vertical blinds are on display in unique arrangements.

Bedsprings, both ready and custom made, are nearby for comparison selection as are upholstery and slip cover fabrics in palatable shades and prints by Schumacher, Waverly, Stroheim-Romann and Greef with wall coverings and materials in coordinated patterns.

For the discriminating homemaker with an old and favorite piece of furniture they wish to keep yet give a new look, qualified upholsterers and slip cover workmen are available through the store.

Creative decorating is a smooth operation with all needed materials, paints and wall coverings in one place, whether a person is interested in using bold splashes of color with pastel neutral shades, or is an individualist on environment, which tops the current list of new ideas in home and office decorating.

Another new facet of Lombardi's is oak pre-finished flooring and racks of Armstrong and congregate samples. An entire wall, located near the front of the store is devoted to specimen squares by Lee, Smith and Calloway carpets in solid colors that range from pastels to vivid hues. Not forgotten are timeless carpets in beautiful floral designs popular many years ago and now in great demand. Area rugs in either style of carpet, solid or floral, in specific size, can be made up at the request of a customer.

The remodeling and decor for the interior of the store was planned and programmed by Mr. and Mrs. Lombardi. An architect designed the exterior walls.

Bowed windows in the front, facing Madison Avenue, give an excellent view of the carpet and picture displays. Later the lower portion of the windows will feature shutters.

Architectural interest on the side of the building was developed with the installation of sleek black marble panels on each side of the double-paned doors painted white and soft beige, accented at the top with white cornice.

The extra wide windows flanking the doors will be divided into a small pane effect and the inside will feature draped hangings with a swag valance.

The difficult window, walls in older homes in need of repair or any decorating problem needing special attention is a challenge which can be professionally solved by the corps of store employees.

Both commercial and residential consultations are offered free of charge and the store personnel services Collinsville, Belleville, Edwardsville, Alton, St. Louis and the Quad-City area.

Professional custom decorator consultants are Bob and Kathy Lombardi and Alice Baugh. Ellie Falcetta is in the wall paper department. Paula Williams works on a part-time basis. John Lerch serves as paint manager. Waldo Frohardt does picture frame work and Marilyn Heaton is in the business office. A new employee, Joe Gallo, presently is installing drape and curtain rods and hanging drapes.

Short in stature, but not to be forgotten, is "Pop" Lombardi who has been associated with his son in the business since its initial opening. He is a busy little man engaged in a multitude of duties in every department.

HAPPY EMPLOYEES of Lombardi Paint and Interiors, Inc., on the stairway of the newly renovated store. Front row from left, Arthur "Pop" Lombardi, Bob Lombardi, Kathy Lombardi and Joe Gallo, (the latter

BELOW — Exterior view of the store taken at night shows sharp contrast of the shining black marble on each side of the light beige doors from the lights of the carriage lamps. The open stairway is visible through the extra-wide window and the black lettering above the door emphasizes the natural color brick walls.

AT RIGHT — Reiminscent and always popular is the country style decorating. This vignette is centered with a pine wash stand designed with leaded glass doors and a side towel rack. In keeping with the theme a corner wall shelf exhibits a copper tea kettle and other artifacts with a brass dinner bell hanging on the side. Old-fashioned prints are framed in matching pine woods and to the right is an oval picture of a girl in a field of grass and wild flowers.

COMMUNITY PAYS TRIBUTE to Linda L. Wetton through a proclamation signed Tuesday by Mayor Paul Schuler at City Hall. "Our community is proud of its youth and their accomplishments... and the achievements of young people inspire others to raise their sights and seek higher goals in life," the document reads, while urging all citizens and organizations to salute Miss Wetton for bringing recognition to Illinois and Granite City. The young woman spoke on "Freedom" to capture the National Speak-Off championship for Illinois at the National Business Women's convention in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

ON CONVENTION FLOOR at La Condado Center, San Juan, are delegates Lois Wetton and LaVelle Stephens, president and president-elect, respectively, from Granite City BPW Club. Lively debates preceded balloting by the 3,029 official delegates. One measure passing enables BPW clubs with 100 to 199 members, such as Granite City, to send three voting delegates instead of two.

NATIONAL CHAMPION HOME. Mayor Paul Schuler, center, welcomes home Linda L. Wetton, seated left, who returns from San Juan, Puerto Rico, as the National Speak-Off Champion, won at the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's convention, where finalists represented 20 states. The former Sacred Heart School teacher will leave for Germany Aug. 17 to start a new teaching assignment. Several events are honoring Miss Wetton this week. At the City Hall Tuesday, she repeated her winning speech for the mayor.

Events honor Linda Wetton

Several events are taking place this week in honor of Linda L. Wetton, who won the Individual Development Program Speak-Off championship at the 1978 National Federation of Business and Professional Women in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Miss Wetton represented the Illinois BPW Federation in the national contest, having won the Granite City BPW Club, District 14 and state championships earlier this year.

She was judged the national winner over 20 state finalists, with the Virginia and California representatives placing second and third, respectively.

Miss Wetton was given a standing ovation by the convention assembly after delivering an impassioned speech on "Freedom," in which she urged present-day Americans not to infringe upon the rights of others in their quest for more freedom, less noise and to protect their rights at some future time.

On Tuesday, Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler signed a proclamation paying tribute to the young woman and asking all citizens and organizations to join in the salute.

Miss Wetton repeated her speech for several guests and BPW members at the signing.

The proclamation reads in part:

"Whereas, Our Community is proud of its youth and their accomplishments, and

"Whereas, the achievements of young people inspire others to raise their sights and seek higher goals in life, and goals in life, and

"Whereas, National recognition has been brought to Illinois and Granite City among thousands of Business and Professional Women throughout each of the 50 States, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico and United States Possessions by Miss Linda L. Wetton attaining the 1978 National Individual Development Program Speak-Off Championship in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

"Now, Therefore I, Paul Schuler, Mayor of the City of Granite City, by the authority vested in me, do hereby accord deserved tribute and recognition on this date to Linda L. Wetton.

"And urge all Citizens in Granite City, all civic and fraternal groups, all educational associations, all news media and other community organizations to join in this salute to Linda L. Wetton and wish her well and continued success in facing new challenges as teacher to children of U.S. Armed Forces members in Germany."

Several of those at the signing attended a luncheon in Linda's honor at Kemoll's Restaurant, St. Louis, immediately afterward.

Earlier this week, a buffet luncheon was given at the club house of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Rollins, 4861 Reville Lane.

District officers, local BPW members and other guests were present, and a toast was offered by Mrs. Lois Wetton, the honoree's mother and president of the Granite City BPW Club. Among the guest were Raymond Wetton, her father; Mr. and Mrs. Otto Wofford, grandparents; Mary Ann Loftus, Jo Ann Baldwin of Wagon, Truxton Allen and Henry Kohlbrecher, past state secretary of the Illinois BPW Federation, Evelyn Smith, state public relations chairman, Doris Vogt, Belle-East BPW Club, Marcelle Easley, District 14 treasurer and Marjorie Pea, Collinsville BPW Club.

Former college classmates at Eastern Illinois University, Charleston, gathered at the Wetton home during the weekend to congratulate the winner.

Miss Wetton will depart next Thursday for Germany, where she will start a new teaching assignment with children of U.S. Armed Forces members.

She has taught for the past four years at Sacred Heart School.

An active BPW member, she held the post of second vice-president in the 1978-79 club year.

In 1977, she was selected "Young Careerist" by the local business women's group.

TAKEN FROM TRUCK

An aluminum hand truck, painted with red stripes and valued at $100, was stolen from the rear of a soda truck during a delivery at the J & J Liquor store, 312 Maryville Road, at 11:55 a.m. Tuesday, it was reported by Jerry Hoffman of Belleville.

Refresher program for inactive nurses

A six-week refresher program for inactive professional registered nurses will be held at St. Elizabeth Hospital in Granite City, beginning Sept. 4. Registration is $100.

Sponsored by the Continuing Education Program in the SIUE School of Nursing, sessions will meet Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays from Sept. 4 through Oct. 13.

Three weeks will be spent in the classroom, from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m.

The remaining three weeks will be spent in clinical work, with classes meeting from 6:45 a.m. until 3:15 p.m.

The six-week course provides the inactive registered nurse with an opportunity to review and update her or his nursing knowledge and skills so she or he can return to practice.

Betty Boyd Walker, director of the Continuing Education Program in the SIUE School of Nursing, said participants in the course will review common laboratory tests and x-ray procedures, explore nursing trends today, and discuss principles of pharmacology as they relate to the administration of drugs.

Students will also be introduced to principles of intravenous therapy and electrolyte balance and will take a look at nursing implications of patient care in selected medical-surgical conditions.

4 college grads for each 3 job openings through 1985

About one in four college graduates entering the labor market between 1976 and 1985 will probably have to accept jobs traditionally filled by persons with less than a college degree, according to the new 1978-79 edition of the U.S. Labor Department's handbook, "Occupational Outlook for College Graduates."

The handbook is a guide to career opportunities in a broad range of occupations for which a college degree is, or is becoming, the usual background for employment. It contains a brief summary of the expected changes in the economy, and an analysis of overall supply and demand situation for college graduates through the mid-1980s.

In addition, it provides detailed information on more than 100 occupations of interest to graduates, reprinted from the 1978-79 edition of the "Occupational Outlook Handbook."

The new report by the department's Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) indicates that: About one out of four college graduates who entered the labor market between 1969 and 1976 took jobs that — earlier in the 1960s — were filled by workers who did not have a college degree.

College graduates entering the labor force through the mid-1980s are likely to face job market conditions similar to those faced by graduates over the 1969-76 period.

BLS estimates that between 1976 and 1985 about 10.4 million graduates will be vying for about 7.7 million openings in jobs traditionally filled by graduates or requiring a degree — forcing about 2.7 million graduates, or a quarter of all those seeking jobs, to accept jobs that previously have not been filled by college graduates.

Many of those unable to enter jobs traditionally filled by graduates will compete for the more desirable jobs not previously filled by graduates. Although almost all should be able to find jobs, those who are least prepared for the job market, or the most unlikely, will clearly face the prospect of underutilization and job dissatisfaction.

Despite the unfavorable prospects for many college graduates, those prepared to enter certain occupations such as accountant, bank office, computer programmer, engineer and physician are expected to have good prospects.

Even in overcrowded occupations, many of the better qualified graduates will find jobs.

For each occupation discussed, the "Outlook for College Graduates" presents current authoritative information on: what the work is like; personal qualifications and training and educational requirements; working conditions; and earnings. Also: job prospects to 1985; chances for advancement; and where to find additional information.

Estimated 1976 employment, average annual openings expected between 1976 and 1985, and employment prospects for selected occupations include: Accountants — Employment, 865,000; annual openings, 51,500. Employment expected to increase about as fast as average as managers rely more on accounting information to make business decisions. Graduates with 4-year accounting degrees will be in greatest demand.

Architects — Employment, 49,000; annual openings, 3,100. Employment expected to rise about as fast as the average for all occupations. Competition for jobs likely. Prospects are best in the South and States without architectural schools.

Bank officers and managers — Employment, 319,000; annual openings, 26,000. Employment expected to increase faster than average as rising costs of new technology and services require more officers to provide sound management. Good opportunities for college graduates as management trainees.

Chemists — Employment, 148,000; annual openings, 6,500. Employment expected to grow about as fast as average as a result of increasing demand for new product development and rising concern about energy shortages, pollution control, and health care. Except for positions in colleges and universities, good opportunities should exist.

College and university teachers — Employment, 593,000; annual openings, 17,000. Despite expected employment growth, applicants will face competition for jobs. Best opportunities in public colleges and universities. Persons who do not have a Ph.D. will find it increasingly difficult to secure a teaching position.

Dentists — Employment, 112,000; annual openings, 4,800. Employment expected to grow about as fast as average due to population growth, increased awareness of importance of dental care, and expansion of payment arrangements. Opportunities should be very good.

Economists — Employment, 15,000; annual openings, 1,000. Employment expected to grow faster than average. Master's and Ph.D. degree holders may face keen competition for college and universities positions but can expect good opportunities in nonacademic areas. Persons with bachelor's degrees likely to face keen competition.

Engineers — Employment, 1,133,000; annual openings, 56,500. Employment expected to grow slightly faster than the average for all occupations. Good employment opportunities for engineering graduates in related fields.

Foresters — Employment, 25,000; annual openings, 1,100. Employment expected to grow about as fast as the average for all occupations as environmental concern and need for forest products increase. However, applicants likely to face keen competition.

Geologists — Employment, 34,000; annual openings, 2,300. Employment expected to grow faster than average as domestic mineral exploration increases. Good opportunities for persons with degrees in geology or related scientific fields.

Health services administrators — Employment, 160,000; annual openings, 6,000. Employment expected to grow much faster than average as quantity of patient services increases and health services management becomes more complex.

Historians — Employment, 22,500; annual openings, 900. Employment expected to grow more slowly than average. Keen competition expected, particularly for academic positions. Persons with training in historical specialties such as historic preservation and business history have best opportunities.

Kindergarten and elementary school teachers — Employment, 1,364,000; annual openings, 70,000. Competition for jobs expected as enrollments continue to decline until early 1980's. Reentrants will face increasing competition from new graduates.

Lawyers — Employment, 396,000; annual openings, 23,400. Employment expected to grow faster than average in response to increased business activity and population. However, keen competition likely for salaried positions. Best prospects for establishing new practices will be in small towns and expanding suburbs, although starting a practice will remain a risky and expensive venture.

Librarians — Employment, 138,000; annual openings, 8,000. Although employment expected to grow, field is likely to be somewhat competitive. Best prospects in school and public libraries away from large East and West coast cities.

Life Scientists — Employment, 260,000; annual openings, 12,000. Employment expected to grow faster than average due to increasing expenditures for medical research and environmental protection. Good opportunities for persons with advanced degrees.

Manufacturers' sales workers — Employment 362,000; annual openings, 17,600. Employment expected to grow about as fast as average because of rising demand for technical products and resulting need for trained sales workers.

Mathematicians — Employment, 38,000; annual openings, 1,000. Slower than average employment growth expected to lead to keen competition for jobs, especially for academic positions. Opportunities expected to be best for advanced degree holders applied mathematics seeking jobs in government and private industry.

Newspaper reporters — Employment, 40,500; annual openings, 2,100. Slower than average employment growth and rising number of journalism graduates expected to create keen competition for openings. Best opportunities for bright and energetic persons with exceptional writing ability on newspapers in small towns and suburbs.

Physicians and osteopaths — Employment, 375,000; annual openings, 21,800. Employment outlook expected to be very favorable. New physicians should have little difficulty in establishing new practices.

Physicists — Employment, 48,000; annual openings, 1,100. Although employment will grow more slowly than average, generally favorable job opportunities are expected for persons with advanced degrees in physics. However, persons seeking college and university positions, as well as graduates with only a bachelor's degree, will face keen competition.

Programmers — Employment, 230,000; annual openings, 9,700. Employment expected to grow faster than average as computer usage expands, particularly in accounting and business management firms. Brightest prospects for college graduates with degrees in computer science or related field.

Registered nurses — Employment, 1,111,000; annual openings, 83,000. Employment expected to grow faster than average. Favorable opportunities, especially in some southern states and many inner-city locations. Nurses may find competition for higher paying jobs and for jobs in some urban areas with large nurse training facilities.

School counselors — Employment, 43,000; annual openings, 1,500. Employment expected to grow more slowly than average as declining school enrollments coupled with financial constraints limit growth.

Secondary school teachers — Employment, 1,111,000; annual openings, 13,000. Keen competition expected due to declining enrollments coupled with large increases in supply of teachers. More favorable opportunities will exist for persons qualified to teach vocational subjects, mathematics, and the natural sciences.

Social workers — Employment, 330,000; annual openings, 25,000. Employment expected to increase faster than average due to expansion of health insurance. Best opportunities for graduates of master's and Ph.D. degrees programs in social work.

Statisticians — Employment, 24,000; annual openings, 1,500.

Employment expected to grow faster than average as use of statistics expands into new areas. Persons combining knowledge of statistics with a field of application, such as economics, may expect favorable job opportunities.

Systems analysts — Employment, 160,000; annual openings, 7,600. Employment expected to grow faster than average as computer capabilities are increased and computers are used to solve a greater variety of problems. Excellent prospects for graduates or computer-related curricula.

Nobody does it better

VIEWS: By Roger Dean; A and W Publishers; $10.95. This is not a book, but a collection of designs by Dean that have helped to sell millions of records. It once was the fashion merely to put the name of the artist on a record album — and let the name and the music sell the album. But no more. Albums now have gorgeous and highly imaginative designs on their covers. And no one does it better than Dean who also is noted for innovative posters, furniture and architectural designs, stage settings, and futuristic urban designs.

Inside look at automobile care

You keep your living room looking nice, don't you? Well, you can take the same kind of care with the interior of your automobile. It's that easy. Thanks to modern technology, it has given us the durable and attractive man-made fibers now almost universal in auto interiors. And technology also has handed us a variety of preparations with which your car's interior can be kept "showroom" new.

Now, here is a guide on where and how to use them: Most car carpets are made from sturdy, abrasion-resistant nylon fiber. The Fiber Information Center, a service of the Man-Made Fiber Producers Association, says nearly any product recommended for cleaning nylon household carpets also can be used in your automobile. This includes the dry preparations brushed into the rug and then vacuumed off. And the sudsy detergents, too. Carpets made of man-made fibers often have soil-resistant properties built in. That makes the cleaning job easier.

Matter of fact, a chemist for one detergent maker says the detergent film which coats the fibers even after the suds are vacuumed off provides a measure of protection against soiling. This is an argument in favor of shampooing your car carpets early on. The same expert advises motorists living in the snow belt to remove traces of road salt from carpets. This can be done by wiping the carpeting with a wet, but not soaked, rag to dissolve the salt, repeated wiping after it has been cleaned and allowed to dry.

Chromed and painted car surfaces should be kept sparkling with glass-cleaning sprays. On the inside of windows, be sure to wipe with a completely clean, lintless cloth or paper towel to prevent streaking.

Vinyl dash panels and dash-to-window surfaces should be cleaned only with mild soap and water or specialized vinyl cleaners. The same goes for non-woven headliners and trim. Car experts also advise disinfectant sprays to kill cigar and other interior odors. And there are "new car smell" sprays as well. But new cars don't smell like they used to. That's because the luxurious-looking fabrics of today's man-made fibers to a great extent are replacing vinyl for upholstery. And that "new car smell" mostly was the odor of vinyl "breathing."

Wipe the upholstery with a cloth dampened in the solution. Mild, non-detergent soap can be used just as well.

That's the recommendation from Jaguar, which uses leather, wood, nylon and vinyl in its car interiors. You can also protect your upholstery by spraying it with a soil-repellant after it has been cleaned and allowed to dry.

To preshrink your trim, wrap the trim around and around a pattern envelope or the pointed end of your ironing board. Slip the loops off; wrap a rubber band several times around the middle to hold. Wash; spread out on a towel to dry.

MAN CHARGED WITH BREAKING WINDOW

The Salvation Army Center, 3009 E. 23rd St., reported Thursday that a vandal had broken a two-foot-square window in a rear door. Police learned several young people, about 14 and 15 years old, had been sitting in an auto drinking with an older man the previous night. One person allegedly jumped from the vehicle and struck the window with his fist, cutting himself. William P. Woods, 21, of 9 Kaseberg Park, was arrested Thursday by Poston Beach police at his home. He was charged with criminal damage to property by Granite City officers in connection with the incident, and was released upon posting a $35 cash bond.

Joshua 1:9 — "Have not I commanded thee? Be strong and of a good courage; be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed: for the Lord thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest."

We, as God's people, must be cautious that we "not be weary in well doing, for in due season we shall reap, if we wait not." It is easy to become discouraged if we look at our results and not at the fact that we are doing the will of God. If you are working at his "command," then be determined to stand to the task. Whatever we do for God and his kingdom shall be fruitful! His Word shall not return unto him void, "but it shall accomplish that which I please, and it shall prosper in the things whereto I sent it." (Isaiah 55:11)

The success of any undertaking for God depends entirely upon "Have I not commanded you?" Be assured, Fear not. If we are moving at the command of our Heavenly Father, we need not be afraid. We wait with Today.

MAN CHARGED WITH BREAKING WINDOW

The Salvation Army Center, 3009 E. 23rd St., reported Thursday that a vandal had broken a two-foot-square window in a rear door. Police learned several young people, about 14 and 15 years old, had been sitting in an auto drinking with an older man the previous night. One person allegedly jumped from the vehicle and struck the window with his fist, cutting himself. William P. Woods, 21, of 9 Kaseberg Park, was arrested Thursday by Poston Beach police at his home. He was charged with criminal damage to property by Granite City officers in connection with the incident, and was released upon posting a $35 cash bond.

Car experts also advise disinfectant sprays to kill cigar and other interior odors. And there are "new car smell" sprays as well. But new cars don't smell like they used to. That's because the luxurious-looking fabrics of today's man-made fibers to a great extent are replacing vinyl for upholstery. And that "new car smell" mostly was the odor of vinyl "breathing."

Joshua 1:9 — "Have not I commanded thee? Be strong and of a good courage; be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed: for the Lord thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest."

We, as God's people, must be cautious that we "not be weary in well doing, for in due season we shall reap, if we wait not." It is easy to become discouraged if we look at our results and not at the fact that we are doing the will of God. If you are working at his "command," then be determined to stand to the task. Whatever we do for God and his kingdom shall be fruitful! His Word shall not return unto him void, "but it shall accomplish that which I please, and it shall prosper in the things whereto I sent it." (Isaiah 55:11)

The success of any undertaking for God depends entirely upon "Have I not commanded you?" Be assured, Fear not. If we are moving at the command of our Heavenly Father, we need not be afraid. We wait with Today.

COAL TRUCK OVERTURNS. Traffic on Highway Three and W. 20th St. was blocked for a short time at 11:28 a.m. Saturday as a northbound semi-truck, loaded with fine coal, overturned while making a left turn onto W. 20th St. The left rear tire apparently hit the median, causing the coal in the trailer to shift, overturning the truck on its right side. The driver, David C. Newcom, 23, of Columbia, Ill., was treated for minor bruises and released at St. Elizabeth Hospital. The Granite City fire department was called to the scene to wash down spilled gasoline.

Assessors favor lid on taxes

The board of directors of the statewide assessors' organization has unanimously endorsed the "Thompson proposition." It was announced Monday.
The 13-member board of directors of the Assessors' Division of Township Officials of Illinois took the action during the weekend at its semi-annual meeting in Decatur. The board represents 500 assessors throughout Illinois.
"The proposition brings the truth to the people and gives them a chance to stand up for themselves," said Ronald Harms, co-chairman of the assessors' legislative committee.
"It is a way to remind our state, county and local governments that there is only one true way to cut taxes and that is to cut spending."
Harms said his organization will be active in circulating petitions to assist in gathering 625,000 signatures of registered voters by Aug. 21.
If the petition drive is successful, the proposition would place a question on the Nov. 7 ballot asking voters if they favor ceilings on taxes and spending. The referendum would be advisory to the Illinois legislature.
Governor James R. Thompson thanked the assessors for their support and said it was "a meaningful endorsement."

Air Force to enlist 100

Lt. Col. Lapham is the commander of the 3504 United States Air Force Recruiting Group, located at Lackland AFB, San Antonio, Tex. He is directly responsible for Air Force recruiting in 14 states, an area that covers approximately 864,000 square miles. He is commander of over 600 personnel in Air Force recruiting.

Steel production is highest in 4 years

Domestic raw steel production achieved a four-year high during the first half of 1978. New statistics show mills in this country poured 66,736,000 tons of raw steel through June of this year.
That was nearly 3,000,000 tons more than the 63,740,000 tons of output during the same period of last year, and was the highest first-half total since 1974's 74,461,000 tons of raw steel production.
Of this year's first half output, 39,974,000 tons came from basic oxygen furnaces, 16,028,000 tons from electric furnaces and 10,735,000 tons from open hearths.
The steel industry's capability utilization rate for the first six months of this year was 85.3 percent. For the first half of 1977, the rate was 79.5 percent.
In June, domestic mills produced 11,861,000 tons of raw steel. Of this total, 7,272,000 tons was made by BOFs, 2,704,000 tons by electric furnaces and 1,884,000 tons by open hearths.
Capability utilization during the month was 91.1 percent, compared to 84.9 percent in June of last year. The May 1978 rate was 91.5 percent.
During June, 1,597,000 tons of raw steel were strand or pressure cast (produced through continuous casting processes), bringing the total for the first half of this year to 9,348,000 tons. These tonnages are included in the total raw steel production.

Children not safe in autos

By CATHERINE R. MAUCK
Madison County Extension
Adviser, Home Economics
A new proposal by the U.S. Department of Transportation is designed to improve protection for infants and small children in cars.

It would amend the present safety standard that covers only child seats to include car beds, infant carriers and child harnesses.

In addition, testing procedures for these units would be upgraded to require in-motion crash tests with special dummies simulating a 3-year-old child and a 6-month-old infant, instead of the current static (not-in-motion) tests.

The child restraint proposal would become effective May 1, 1980; the upgraded-testing procedures plan would become effective on the date the final proposal is published in the Federal Register.

Traffic accident statistics involving infants and small children are shocking.

National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) figures show that about 1,000 children up to age 5 are killed and 100,000 are injured each year in motor vehicle accidents.

Many of these deaths and injuries could be prevented if children were restrained so that they would not be thrown against the vehicle's interior during a crash.

Manufacturers of child-restraint units would be required to affix labels that indicate the weight and height of children who may safely use them, as well as brief instructions on how to install and adjust them.

Also required would be an instruction manual that would explain fully how to install the unit in the vehicle and how to place the child in the unit.

Improving the adequacy of child-restraint devices is an important step in helping to cut the number of deaths and injuries suffered by infants and young children in vehicle accidents.

But it's really up to parents to see that the devices are properly installed and always used.

School lunches more flexible

Amanda Kay is a typical 16-year-old sophomore. Each afternoon she glances at the school menu posted on the lunchroom bulletin board. Today's menu: oven-baked chicken, mashed potatoes, milk, bread, cauliflower or asparagus.

Two years ago her typical reaction would have been, "Right!" The regulations required Amanda Kay to take all the items on the menu. The fact that she didn't like cauliflower and asparagus didn't matter.

Instead of purchasing the Type A balanced meal in the school cafeteria, Amanda Kay and students like her would either toss the food items they didn't like into the trash, or skip the Type A lunch altogether and eat a lunch of potato chips, ice cream and a soft drink.

Now, because of more flexible federal and state guidelines, thousands of Illinois high school children are returning to the lunchroom cafeteria and purchasing Type A lunches.

Type A lunch is defined by the U.S. Department of Agriculture as a meal containing prescribed amounts of milk, fruit, vegetables, bread and meat or fish.

The new regulations allow high school students to select a lunch consisting of any three of the five components.

Starting in September, the three-optional plan will be available at the option of the local school administrator to middle school and junior high level students.

The objective is twofold. First, plate waste is reduced, since students select only those three or more of the foods that appeal to them.

Second, the students, feeling they now have a new freedom of choice, are more inclined to spend their lunch money on the Type A lunch rather than a junk food meal.

Bob Ohlzen, manager of School Foods and Nutrition for the Illinois Office of Education, the administrative arm of the State Board of Education, says the challenge of facing school food service professionals is "to increase the quality and variety of Type A lunches so that a child will want to eat all five components."

"The three-to-five plan is a start in that direction, as well as toward eliminating plate waste."

Apartment owner struck by tenant

Seeing a tenant moving out of an apartment at 6:15 p.m. Sunday, William Kempler, 2343 Edison Ave., told the man if he turned in the key, he could receive his deposit in return.

Kempler told police the tenant became angry, saying his rent was paid until Thursday.

The man then struck the landlord, knocking him to the ground, officers were advised.

He was advised to see the state's attorney and sign a complaint against the tenant.

Neatness counts at salvage yard—board

The Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals has recommended that the Madison County Board approve special use permits for the placement of three mobile homes in Quad-City area townships; deny a request for another mobile home; deny permission to one family to keep more horses on its property; and withhold action against the owner of a Nameoki Township towing and salvage business.

The board held a revocation hearing on the property of Thomas Ruff and Daniel W. Grimes at 8300 Fairway in State Park Place in an R-4 single-family residential district of Nameoki Township.

A towing and salvage business is being operated there under a special use permit which requires that the property be enclosed by a fence, that derelict vehicles be kept within the fence at the rear of the building, and that the premises be kept neat and orderly.

At the revocation hearing, the board concluded that the property is in partial compliance, and that efforts are being made to meet the requirements of the permit.

It recommends the permit be continued for a six-month probation period, after which there will be a re-evaluation. Violations during the probation period could cause immediate revocation of the permit, the board noted.

Recommended for denial by the Madison County Board is the request of Velma Stark for expansion of an accessory use permit to keep an additional horse and Shetland pony on one acre at 313 Paradise Lane, Mitchell, in an R-2 single-family residential district of Chouteau Township.

Recommended for approval are special use permits for the placement of three mobile homes. James H. Williams is endorsed for a permit to continue the placement of a home for one year at 168 Douglas St., Mitchell, in an R-4 district of Chouteau Township.

Donna and Bert Chapman have the board's endorsement for a permit to continue a mobile home at 8321 Fairway in State Park Place, an R-4 district of Nameoki Township, for 90 days.

Mary and Della Cox received the board's endorsement to place a mobile home at 4289 Highway 102, in an R-2 single-family residential district of Nameoki Township for the duration of her lifetime.

The zoning board is recommending that the county board deny a special use permit to Fred Vogel to place a mobile home on Route 111 in an agricultural district of Chouteau Township.

INDIAN ARTIFACTS. Many artifacts not seen before in one collection were assembled for "Rediscover Cahokia Day." Bea Robertson (right) of the Cahokia Mounds Museum staff explains some of them to visitors.

WORTH SEEING. The museum at Cahokia Mounds, although still far from the scope the Museum Society wants the state to build, has been vastly improved over its state a few years ago. Attractively displayed exhibits tell the story of the Mound Builders and their culture.

POTTERY THE HARD WAY. John White demonstrates how American Indian mound-builders must have shaped their pottery, almost certainly without benefit of the potter's wheel. Many pottery finds have been made at Cahokia Mounds.

AFTER THE 3,500 visitors had departed. From the left ... Andrew G. Smith, treasurer, Joe Abell, president of the Cahokia Mounds Museum Society, and Bea Robertson of the museum staff relax after the successful Rediscover Cahokia Day. Behind them is the museum's replica of a Mound Builder hut, near a small garden plot.

NEW MUSEUM SHOP. Rediscover Cahokia Day marked the formal dedication of the Cahokia Mounds Museum's new and much more spacious gift shop. This crowd clustered before the extensive shelves of pamphlets and books on Indian and Mound Builder lore.

MOUND BUILDER LIVING. Based on verified post-hole arrangements, Nelson Reed and others have deduced that a Mound Builder Indian hut must have looked something like this. The girl seated in front of it is showing one of the Indians' food staples, cracked walnuts.

Summer weddings of Quad-City couples

Leslie Ann Harrell and Terry L. Ripka are wed

The wedding of Miss Leslie Ann Harrell and Terry L. Ripka was solemnized on Aug. 12 at the Ashbury Methodist Church in Lafayette, La.

Sprays of gladioli intermingled with greenery adorned the altar for the double ring ceremony performed at 3 o'clock in the afternoon by the Rev. William Haskell.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Harrell of Shreveport, La. The groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard M. Ripka, Granite City.

A program of wedding music was furnished by Richard Flory, organist, and Judi Sarver, vocalist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of candlelight chiffon designed in an A-line silhouette. The bodice and sheer yoke of imported English silk illusion was delicately traced with re-embroidered Alencon lace, which also created the high Victorian neckline.

A self fabric cummerbund encircled the waistline and accented the accoutrement skirt that fell gracefully into a chapel train. The long sheer bishop style sleeves were enhanced with a wide lace cuff at the wrists.

Her veil length mantilla veil of English illusion was trimmed with Alencon lace scallopes, etched with seed pearls and attached to a modified bandeau headpiece of lace and pearls. She carried a bouquet of Sonja roses centered with a single white orchid and sprigs of baby's breath.

Honor attendant was Margie Macdonald and John Harrell, a daughter of the bride. Mrs. Pete Bourgeois, Miss Shari Ripka, the groom's sister and Joanna Harrell, another sister of the bride, served as bridesmaids. They selected identical apricot jersey dresses featuring Empire bodices with tiny straps, enhanced with a Venice lace trim and complemented with a chiffon capelet, with the exception of Joanna Harrell, the junior bridesmaid.

She was attired in a floor length dress fashioned in a peach and pink floral fabric, trimmed with peach satin ribbons.

Each attendant held a nosegay of Sonja roses and baby's breath.

The groom chose Russell Cherry of Memphis, Tenn., as best man. Larry Ripka, the groom's brother, Ted Lyles, Dale Lyles, Doug and John Harrell, brothers of the bride, Gary Osborn, and Dr. Fred Farshaw, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

A rehearsal dinner was served at the Holiday Inn North in Lafayette. The newly married couple received guests at a reception given in the Evangeline Room of Jacob's Restaurant.

After a wedding trip to Orlando, Fla., the couple will reside in Abbeville, La.

The bride is a graduate of Lafayette High School and the University of Southwestern Louisiana where she received her degree as a registered nurse. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta Sorority.

A graduate of Granite City High School, the groom also attended the University of Tennessee in Knoxville, and graduated from the University of Southwestern Louisiana. He is currently employed as head basketball coach at E. Brossard High School in Abbeville.

MR. AND MRS. STEPHEN REPKING. They were united in marriage at St. Norbert Catholic Church in Florissant, Mo. Formerly Elaine Ann Bauer, the bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Bauer of Glen Carbon, formerly of Granite City.

Elaine Ann Bauer marries Stephen Bernard Repking

Miss Elaine Ann Bauer, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Bauer of Glen Carbon, formerly of Granite City, and Stephen Bernard Repking, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard A. Repking, Florissant, Mo., were married on July 15 at St. Norbert Catholic Church, Florissant.

The Rev. Robert F. Kaletka officiated at the double ring ceremony at 2 o'clock in the afternoon before an altar decorated with arrangements of gladioli, pink carnations and white daisies.

Fluist Janet Scott and Charles E. Bauer, Jr., performed selections by Ravel, Pachelbel, Faure and Bach, before and during the ceremony.

Escorted down the white carpeted aisle and given in marriage by her father, the bride chose an ivory organza gown fashioned in an Empire silhouette. The Queen Anne neckline was traced with silk Venise floral motifs, etched with pearls, and repeated on the bodice and long full sleeves and cuffs.

A full wattle train, accented with lace motifs, fell from mid-shoulder and the slightly full skirt was encircled at the hemline with a lace border.

A lace cap embellished with pearls secured her waltz length veil, edged with lace and she held a cascade of silk white carnations, pink rosebuds and deep purple violets interspersed with greenery and baby's breath.

Maid of honor was Miss Alicia J. Hendrickson and the bridesmaids included Miss Judy Dublar, Miss Jeanne Edwards, and Mrs. John Repking, the groom's sister-in-law.

They were attired in sleeveless gowns of lavender polyester designed with scoop necklines and worn with lavender full chiffon capes.

Each attendant wore a white picture hat banded with a puff of chiffon matching their capes.

and they carried bouquets similar to the bride's flowers. The junior bridesmaids Miss Dawn Lamb and Miss Lynn Kozlowski, a niece of the groom, were gowned in pink floral chiffon over pastel pink crepe dresses fashioned with deep hemline flounces and capes which tied at the waist with satin ribbon.

They wore a ringlet of baby's breath in their hair and carried baskets of miniature pink carnations and white daisies.

Mrs. Bauer, mother of the bride, chose a floor length gown created in a lavender and blue floral chiffon and complemented with a waist length jacket and bone accessories.

The groom's mother appeared in a beige chiffon sleeveless formal length dress featuring a draped deep brown chiffon cape. Her accessories were in matching hues and both mothers wore a white orchid corsage.

Attending the groom as best man was Bryan Robertson. Gregory and John Repking, brothers of the groom, David Bauer, the bride's brother and Leo Kozlowski, the groom's brother-in-law, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

Guests attended an evening reception held at the church hall and the rehearsal dinner was held at Mr. Yac's Restaurant in Hazelwood, Mo.

The newlyweds honeymooned in Florida and are now residing in Hazelwood. A graduate of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, the bride received a bachelor degree in music education, there in 1977.

She is now employed by the Hazelwood School District. Her husband teaches in the Riverview Gardens School District, and earned a master's degree in music education and performance in 1977 from SIUE.

MR. AND MRS. MALFORD MORRIS JR., whose wedding was solemnized at St. Timothy's Catholic Church in St. Louis County. The bride is the former Karen Marie Merlotti, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Merlotti of St. Louis. The groom is a Granite City resident.

Karen Merlotti becomes Mrs. Malford Morris Jr.

St. Timothy's Roman Catholic Church in South St. Louis County was the scene of the wedding on July 15 of Miss Karen Marie Merlotti, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Merlotti, 4844 Blackhawk Drive, St. Louis, and Malford William Morris Jr., a son of Mr. and Mrs. Malford Morris Sr., 2565 Hodges Ave.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony at 12 noon was the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Norbert J. Dietz. Billie Hubbell, a brother-in-law of the groom, read the wedding scriptures during the ceremony.

The bride and groom were escorted to the altar by their respective parents. During the ceremony burning wedding candles were presented to the bride and groom by Miss Merlotti, the bride's sister, and Mrs. Billie Hubbell, a sister of the groom, as part of a ceremony symbolizing the joining of the two families.

Sprays of white gladioli and pink mums decorated the church. Organist Robert Mann and Marie Falvey, vocalist, provided the wedding music which included, "The Wedding Song" and "Let There Be Peace on Earth."

For her wedding the former Miss Merlotti, selected a full length slender style gown with attached train fashioned of white silk organza. The sweetheart neckline, cap sleeves and fitted bodice was accented with silk lace motifs.

The appliques were scattered at random on the apron skirt that was edged with lace scallopes. White satin streamers accented the white picture hat covered with matching lace and she carried a cascade bouquet of small white carnations with pink Sweetheart roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Mrs. Donald McDaniel served as matron of honor and Miss Karen Merlotti, a sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid.

They were gowned in identical pink and beige floral voile gowns with cape collars. Brown velvet ribbons encircled the Empire waistlines and tied in bows with long streamers. Their formal skirts terminated with double hemlines.

Each attendant held a round bouquet of pastel and dark pink carnations with baby's breath, interspersed with brown velvet and beige ribbons.

Deaths in truck crashes rising

Senator Charles H. Percy (R-Ill.) asserted Wednesday that truck accident deaths have jumped by almost 21 percent since 1975. In 1977, 6,614 Americans were killed in truck accidents.

Percy disclosed the figures in Washington yesterday in connection with Senate legislation he introduced this year to upgrade truck safety enforcement.

The statistics were included in a summary of truck safety information prepared for Percy by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) in the Department of Transportation.

"Some Americans used to be afraid to fly in an airplane," Percy said. "Now, many are afraid to drive to the airport."

Government figures show that in a car-heavy truck collision, a car occupant is 32 times more likely to die than a truck driver. In such collisions, a car occupant has only a 43 percent chance of survival.

"These highway deaths will increase unless we crack down on unsafe truck conditions and driving practices," Percy said.

The survey also showed that the most likely time for a heavy truck accident is between 4 and 5 o'clock on weekday afternoons — the rush hour in many cities.

In April, Percy introduced the Truck Safety Act of 1978, focusing on medium and big-size trucks.

The bill, co-sponsored by Senator Edward Kennedy (D-Mass.), would increase enforcement powers of the Department of Transportation and would authorize federal funds for state safety programs. It also provides job security for truck drivers who report safety violations.

"Many drivers go out of their way to point out unsafe conditions when authorities inspect their trucks," Percy said. "The drivers want and deserve safe vehicles."

"But a few truck companies — an unscrupulous minority — ignore their drivers' warnings and send these death-traps on wheels out on the road anyway."

"Likewise, a few reckless truck drivers seem perfectly willing to violate even basic safety standards. It's time we got them off the road."

Senators Percy and Kennedy have urged passage of the Truck Safety Act by early fall.
